

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Monday, October 24. to Thursday October 27. 1670.

Swansey Octob. 20.

ON Friday last a Vessel of Bridgewater, bound with Ballast only to lade Coals at Neath, was cast away by the violence of a storm upon the Bar of Neath, but all her men preserved. On Sunday last the Count of Amsterdam, laden with Sugars, and bound homewards from the Maderas, put in here, but with much difficulty, by reason of the ill weather: the Skipper tells us, that coming up with the Isle of Lundy, they discovered two vessels of great burthen to the Leeward of that Island, they supposed them to be Fleemings, and in much danger: since this the Countrey people discovering several marks of wrecks upon the Coast, suppose them to be cast away upon the Grounds not far distant from this Port.

Plymouth, Octob. 21. This week were cast away by foul weather in Dudley Bay near St Ives, Two Dutch ships, one of them of 20 Guns, laden with Sugars from Lisbonne, with one English vessel from Ireland, but several of the men saved; some of the Dutch have passed this place and are embarked for Holland to give an account of their misfortunes.

Naples, Sept. 23. This week by Order from the Viceroy, Fourteen Spanish soldiers were condemned and sent to the Gallies for contriving to have robbed the Bank of the Annunciata, in which attempt they were seized. The soldiers are of late grown very insolent in this place, and have committed so many disorders, that the Viceroy will be obliged to send them away to a new Quarter, and to draw hither some other soldiers to supply their room.

Vienna, Octob. 1. The Count Nadasti still insists upon his own innocency, and seeks to attribute all the accusations that are brought in against him to the contrivance of his kindred and has therefore given the Emperor an exact account of all his Goods and Estate; that if his accusers prove too strong for him, he may thus defeat them of all expectation of enriching themselves by his death.

The Count Serini and the Marquis de Frangipani may be in little time removed to Newstadt, where they are to continue in perpetual imprisonment, with a yearly allowance of 600 Crowns apiece out of their own Estates for their maintenance.

The Count de Rothal, his Imperial Majesties Commissioner to the Assembly at Leutch in Hungary, is suddenly expected here to give the Emperor an account of what persons have been upon inquiry found guilty of contriving and carrying on the late rebellion, with a Memorial of the Estates which have been confiscated thereupon; which tis said amounts to a sum large enough to pay off the forces which are to Quarter there, and the Garrisons which are placed in the most considerable posts of Upper Hungary for Two years.

Rome, Octob. 4. The Pope being now recovered from his late indisposition of body, seems more than ever zealous to oblige the people by easing them of the burthens that lye upon them; for which purpose he some days since called a Congregation, who considering how much the Popes Treasure has been of late years exhausted upon several occasions, found it a matter of too much difficulty for them at present to abate any thing of the impositions which are charged on them, but the Pope endeavors to manage his own affairs with the best Husbandry imaginable, by retrenching all his unnecessary expences, cutting off and reforming several Offices, that he hopes by degrees to lay up such a sum of Moneys, that he may be able to leave some Monument behind him to preserve his memory for succeeding ages: he is also very moderate in his allowances to his Kindred and Relations, insomuch as being desired by them to allow them somewhat towards their expences in a journey they intend to make into the Countrey, he refused to grant them any thing more than what would barely suffice to pay the extraordinary charges of their Stables.

He has thought fit to oblige the Roman Nobility by conferring the charges of Conservators of the City upon the Marquesses Serlupi and Teodoli, and has annexed the Title of Excellency to that employment.

He hath lately done the Venetian Ambassador the honor to confer on him his Order of Knighthood, which was solemnly performed on Sunday last, in presence of the Cardinals Rospigliosi, Del-fini, and Ortobon, and in the afternoon complemented the Ambassadors Lady, who came to kiss his feet, and to take her leave in order to her return home.

The Pope seems much concerned, that after all his care for the reestablishment of the Mount of Piety, few persons will be perswaded to adventure to take up moneys from them, but rather apply themselves to the Jews, who furnish them at a far greater interest. This week a Congregation was held upon this affair, where some ways were proposed for taking this trade out of the hands of the Jews, whose cause was there so well managed, that nothing was concluded to their disadvantage.

Here is lately arrived an Express from Madrid, bringing the Orders of the Golden Fleece, which hath been lately conferred by His Catholick Majesty upon the Constable Colonna, and the Prince de Palestrina, in consideration of the services they have done for the Crown of Spain.

Genoua, Octob. 8. The 29th of the last month dyed the Dutchess of Valentinois, leaving all her wealth to the Prince of Monaco her Son, and his Two Daughters.

The 1st instant arrived Two ships of this place richly laden, who had been long pursued by Two of the Pyrats of Argier, and had run great danger of being taken, had not the appearance of Two French men of war under the Command of the Marquis de Martel rescued them, at whose sight the Argerines gave off the chace; the French ships finding them to be nimble Sailors, thought not fit to pursue them, but with some other ships designed for the same service, followed their course, intending for Tunis.

Letters of the 4th instant from Milan tell us, that the Duke of Ossuna went thence the Sunday before with the principal Officers of the Army, to take a view of the Fortifications of Novarra.