SCHEDULE TO THE ORDER

Description of the Area

Scroggs Close lies on the eastern side of the Furness peninsula, five kilometres south of Ulverston, near the coastal village of Baycliff. The notification area has four separate components due to the fragmented nature of the site. Although it has no formal conservation status at present, Scroggs Close lies within a proposed County Landscape (former Area of Great Landscape Value).

The areas of pavement lie on a small hill rising to 85 metres OD to the north-west of the village. The western edge of the area forms a prominent scar and the hill is capped by two large sloping terraces of pavement consisting of small and irregular clints. The area was formerly wooded but apart from scattered dwarfed shrub cover is now open and bare. The site forms part of a large block of pavement which comprises Scales and Baycliff Haggs, Scroggs Close and the area adjacent to Green Slacks. There are no public footpaths crossing the notification area.

Woodland species are still present both contained within the growing out of the grikes. These include hawthorn, blackthorn, ash, holly, wych elm and elder. A single specimen of yew (an uncommon tree of the limestone) occurs on the eastern half of the main pavement block. Herb species present include the uncommon 'lords and ladies' and hairy rock-cress.

Scroggs Close lies on the Urswick Limestone of Lower Carboniferous age. The bedding and jointing of this limestone favours pavement formation however the joints are closely spaced and the resulting clints are quite small. The grikes are often shallow or infilled. The site has been damaged in the past. Earthy depressions, broken rock and stockpiles of freshly removed clints are evidence of more recent damage. English Nature noted clints being removed from the site in August 1991. The total area covered by the Order is 5·5 ha.
