should permit the Tripolines to feise a Venetian Ship | under the command of his Guns. This Meffage had to good effects upon the Governor, that he prefently of liged the Corfairs to leave the place, who returned again towards the Coafts of Barbary, fearing to foll into the hands of our Men of War, who are cruifing about the Gulf of Sapienza.

Vienna, Det. 14. The Emperor with some impatienc e. p dis the return of a Courier which was fent to th Ottoman Court, amongst other things, to 11a' f me discovery (if possible) of the designes of hat Empire, and against what Prince all these great p.eparations are intended.

We are daily more and more apprehensive left the Rebels in Hungary may at the last receive fome countenance from the Turks; the Duke Abaff, Prince of Tranfylvania, has lately called an Affembly f the States of his Countrey, to confult with them about the best methods of confirming the peace and quiet of those parts, and the easiest way of raising Moneys for the payment of the Tribute due to the Ottoman Court; which being in readinefs, he can with greater confidence appear before the Grand Segnior according to his fummons.

The Count d'Esterbasi, the Emperors Envoye into Hungary has been fo fuccessful in his Negotiations there, as to prevail with the Counts Teckeley and Paragosty to lay down their arms, and to perfwade the people to take in an Imperial Garrifon. The faid Counts have thought fit to commit their pe fons to his hands, who is with them fuddenly expected here, where tis believed he may with little difficulty prevail with his Imperial Majefty for their pardons : he brings alfo with him Eight other perfons, who upon the account of the same rebellion, were committed prifoners to Leopold.

The Inhabitants of the leffer Comorra have been lately upon the point of taking Arms against the Gcvernor upon the account of fome new Impositions charged on them; Count Forgat? being informed of the dispute, is gone thither, but finds it a matter of much difficulty to compose it to the fatisfaction of all parties.

Bruffels, Dec. 28 Our Letters from Tournay and other parts of the French Quarters, speak of nothing more then preparations for war, the ftoring of the Magazines with all forts of Provisions and Ammunition, and the putting all the Garrifons into fuch a poslure as may give satisfaction to his most Christian Majesty at his arrival in those parts, where he is expected about the end of March or the beginning of April.

The 26th inftant in the evening arrived here the Baron de Bergheick from Lille, where the conference between the Deputies from both Crowns is still continued, though at present only Monsieur de Houines is there on the Spanish part, and only one Commissioner of the French side : the greatest difficulty which semains unconquered is, that the Spanish Commissioners scruple the figning of the Papers concerning the dependencies to which the French have put in their pretensions, befote the French Commiffioners shall think fit to accept of their Contrepretenfions.

The French forces in Lorrain are commanded to be in readiness to march, upon the first Orders they Shall receive after the first of Fanuary; but their defign admits of various conjectures.

Monfieur de Berinsen, Captain of the Guards, to the Bishop of Munster, is lately arrived here; and is not wanting to give private invitations to feveral Officers to accept of employments in his Masters fervice.

On Tuesday next his Excellency, the Count de Monterey, is expected at Antwerp to negotiate for the payment of a confiderable fum of money, llately returned from Spain, to be employed in the fervice of these Provinces. And it is believed, he may afterwards take a view of the Garifons in Luxemburgh, whither the Prince de Chimay intends within fix days.

Hague, Dec. 30. The Bishop of Munster is raising Horle about Aix la Chappelle, Liege, Cleves, Ruremond, and other places thereabouts, the Officers taking care as foon as they can get about 14 or 15 together, to fend them away to Westphalia. Colonel Benting is sent hither by the Bishop to give the States an account of his arming, professing that he has no other defigne then to vindicate his pretenfions to the Town of Heuxter, as a place belonging to his Abby of Corby. The Refident from the Dukes of Lunenbourg, has by a fastum which he has communicated to the States, endeavoured to prove, that the Duke of Lunenburg Wolfenbutel has beyond the memory of man enjoyd the Right of Protection of that place, and that none of the former Abbots did ever dispute it; fo foon as the Bishops Envoye has had his Au-dience, the States intend to dispatch away their Deputies both to the Bishop and Duke, to offer their Mediation, and to endeavor to bring their difputes to a friendly composure.

Falmouth, Dec. 21. A fmall Veffel of Dublin coming in hither from the Canaries, laden with Wines, gives us little other account, but onely of an ill Vintage in those Islands, and that the Bear, a Ship of Three hundred Tuns belonging to Dantzick, having taken in her lading of Wines was unfortunately caft away near those Islands ; but all the men faved, except the Skipper, and two others.
