ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Tonge Mill Stream—Low Flow Alleviation

The Tonge Mill Stream, which rises in the Thomas a Beckett Spring, is one of a small remaining number of Chalk streams draining the slopes of the North Downs of the North Kent coast. Some 400 metres north of the spring the stream flows into Tonge Mill pond, an important local amenity enjoyed by visitors throughout the year and supporting a rich flora and fauna, the latter including a variety of resident and migrant wildfowl. The spring and watercourse also have strong historic associations dated back to Roman times.

Water levels in the pond are sustained by the flow from the spring which, in turn, fluctuates water table levels in the chalk aquifer. There has, however, been a progressive decrease in groundwater storage since the winter 1988/89 with virtually no flow in the stream since mid 1990. Tonge Mill pond dried out completely every summer from 1989 to 1992 with considerable damage to the habitats of many indigenous species. This flow loss has been partly a consequence of the severe droughts of recent years but a significant proportion of the deficit is attributable to development of the groundwater resource in response to the rising demand for public supply.

Without remedial measures the spring will remain vulnerable to fluctuations in groundwater storage and unless perennial flow conditions are restored it will not be possible to preserve the unique environmental characteristics of the watercourse. A small baseflow was maintained during the drought by pumped discharge from an augmentation borehole located near the spring. This measure was authorised under special Drought Orders granted by the Department of the Environment but this option has now been lost with the official ending of the drought.

If the augmentation of the stream is to continue, it will be necessary for the National Rivers Authority to secure a licence on its own behalf, exclusively for the purpose of maintaining the stream environment. (727)

Statutes in Force

A vital reference work on the law of the land

What is Statutes in Force?

Statutes in Force is the official revised edition of the statutes. It provides the text (without commentary) of the current statute law of the land, in a way which is comprehensive

constantly updated

The complete edition consists of 107 looseleaf binders which contain hole-punched crown quarto (246 x 189mm) booklets - giving a total of some 60,000 pages. The Acts are arranged, not in purely chronological order, but classified into 125 groups according to subject matter.

Statutes in Force is intended to be a permanently renewable edition of revised statutes. It is kept up to date in a number of ways:

- The issue of new Acts for insertion into their appropriate groups (they are published in complete text form usually within two months after Royal Assent)
- The issue of instructions for the removal of repealed Acts
- The publication of revised reissues of heavily-amended Acts
- Cumulative supplements for each affected group giving particulars of amendments and partial repeals (pending their eventual incorporation in revised reissues of the affected Acts).

Customers may obtain copies of any individual Act in the Statutes in Force edition. This service will be of most benefit when ordering heavily amended Acts which have been revised and re-issued or Acts which are now out-of-print in the original (Queen's Printer) version.

There's a free leaflet on Statutes in Force available from:
