And to three Private Bills.

St. James's, September 2. The following Address from the City of Dublin was presented to his Majesty by William Aldrich, Esq; one of the Sheriffs of that City, introduced by the Right Honourable the Earl of Sunderland; and he had the Honour to kiss his Majesty's Hand.

To the KING's most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs, Commons and Citizens of the City of Dublin, at an Assembly held at the Tholsell of the said City:

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE are so deeply sensible of the unspeakable Blessings, that we in common with your other Subjects do enjoy under your Majesty's most auspicious

Government, as well as the late Marks of your Royal Favour in confirming to this City its ancient Rights and Privileges, and of the Obligations we lye under, by the Oaths we have taken, to support and defend your Majesty and the Succession in the Protestant Line, that we cannot but take the Opportunity which is given us by the intended Invasion, to assure your Majesty of our firm and unshaken Loyalty and Adherence to your Majesty, and your Royal Family; and to declare our utmost Abhorrence of the designed Attempt to advance a Papish Pretender to the Throne, which your Majesty by so undoubted and rightful a Title, and with so much Glory is in Possession of.

It fills us with Wonder and Astonishment, that there should be the least Ground to imagine, that any of your Majesty's Protestant Subjects should either encourage or assist in so traitorous and unnatural a Design, as that of betraying your Majesty and their Country; and yet 'tis evident, that this Attempt could not at this Juncture be contrived and carried on (when your Majesty appears at the Head of a British Parliament, who have given such undoubted Proofs of their great Zeal and Affection for your Person and Government, and that you have the Advice and Assistance of such an able, vigilant and faithful Ministry) unless supported and abetted by some of your Majesty's rebellious Subjects at home; and we believe that the late Insurrections and Rebellion in Great Britain have for that End been industriously fomented and encouraged by a restless Party, who have been long engaged in forming Designs to undermine and destroy our present most happy Establishments, which these Nations at a vast Expence of Blood and Treasure for many Years have struggled and contended for.

We of this City account the Blessings of your Majesty's Reign too valuable to omit any thing in our Power that may contribute to the Support and Defence of your Majesty; and as we have already taken due Care to put the Laws in Execution against Papists, Non-jurors, and other suspected Persons; so we will use our utmost Diligence in every other Respect to discharge the Trust your Majesty hath reposed in us, for the Safety and Security of your Royal Person and Government.

And we humbly beg Leave to assure your Majesty, that as we have always shewn a hearty Zeal for the Protestant Succession in your Royal House in the most most perilous Times, so we will continue the same by a steady, constant Loyalty and Fidelity to your Majesty's most sacred Person and Government, and will with our Lives and Fortunes stand by and support your Majesty's rightful and undoubted Title to the Imperial Crown of these Realms, and the Succession of your Royal Line, as the only Security of our Religion and Constitution in Church and State, against this bellish Attempt and Conspiracy; and against all others which may be made or formed by the Pretender, or any other of your Majesty's Enemies at home or abroad, to deprive your Subjects of the inestimable Happiness they enjoy under your Majesty's most gracious Administration, and of the Fruits of the late happy Revolution. In Testimony whereof we have hereunto caused the common Seal of the said City to be affixed this Eighth Day of August, 1715.

Ratisbonne, Sept. 2. N. S. Letters of the 8th of August from Adrianople say, that on the 25th of June the Grand Visier encamped with his Army on the Gulph of Lepanto near Corinth. On the 26th the Siege of the Place was resolved in a Council of War, for which Service a Body of Ten Thousand Janisaries were detached on the 27th under the Command of Achmet Bashaw Begglerbeg of Rumelia. On the 28th the Grand Visier summoned the Garrison to Surrender with Offers of an honourable Capitulation, and Threats of putting all to Fire and Sword in Case of Resistance; but the Provoditor returning a haughty Answer, Batteries were raised and begun to Fire the same Evening, which continued till the 2d of July tho' with little Effect; but Ladders and all other Preparations being then made for a Storm, the Governor capitulated on condition that the Garrison should march out with their Arms and Baggage, and be conducted to Corfu, and that the Inhabitants should be secured in their Liberties and Estates, tho' an unlucky accident defeated this Disposition. For some of the Turks having scaled the Walls in hopes of Booty, and in the Turbulent Fire taking to some Powder which lay scattered, and wounding several of them, the Janisaries imputed it to the Treachery of the Venetians, and took this Occasion to plunder the Town, killing several and making the rest Slaves. The Garrison consisted of 400 Soldiers and 300 Inhabitants capable of bearing Arms. On the 9th of July the Grand Visier broke up with the Army from Corinth in hopes of being in five or six Marches before Napoli di Romania; and on the 28th an Aga arrived at Adrianople (whither he had been sent Express to the Grand Signor's Mother) with Advice that the Grand Visier having discovered several Mines before Napoli di Romania, attack'd it with the utmost Vigour, and carry'd it by Storm on the 19th, putting the Garrison to the Sword except the Governor. Letters from Peterwaradin of the 17th of August say, great Rejoycings had been made by the Turks at Belgrade on the 9th for this Success, the Garrison there had been reinforced by 600 Janisaries. The Grand Signor was expected at Adrianople towards the end of August, and 'twas thought he would keep his Raimadam there.

Stockholm, Aug. 9. Admiral Baron Sparre has sent to the Princess and Senate the following Relation of the Engagement between the Swedish and Danish Fleets near the Island of Rugen on the 28th of July; written from on Board the Ship Gothick Lyon in Carlscrona Road the 3d Instant. On the 28th of July in the Morning our Scouts came in and made Signal that the whole Danish Fleet, consisting of 21 Ships of the Line of Battle and some Frigates, were with full Sail coming down towards us, upon which the Signal was given from the Admiral, that not only our Fleet should weigh and get under Sail, but that also the Ships which had their Station under Gripswald should forthwith draw into our Line. In the mean time the Enemy, who had the Advantage of the Wind, advanced with easy Sail towards us, so that about Two a Clock in the Afternoon the Cannonading was begun on both Sides, which continued without Intermission 'till after Eight a Clock in the Evening, when the Enemy stood close upon a Wind from us, setting their Course to the Northward, but our Fleet lay by 'till Twelve a Clock at Night, to stop the Ships Leaks, and repair the Damages we had received. When the Cannonading was ended the Officers came on Board the Admiral, and gave an Account that the Hulls of their Ships were so damaged that they could not work them; that all their standing and running Rigging was mostly shot away, and that they had no sufficient Quantity of Powder and Shot left; wherefore as we had then Jasmont upon Rugen almost West of us, with little Wind at West North West, it was thought best to stand with an easy Sail to the Eastward. The next Morning, which was the 29th of July, we saw at Break of Day the Danish Fleet to the West of us, making all the Sail they could to the Westward; and as we could not with that Wind weather Bornholm, the Fleet was obliged to go to the Southward of that Island; and it was impossible for us with a Westerly Wind to go back to Rugen, seeing none of our Ships could carry any Sail, by reason their Masts and Rigging were shatter'd and spoiled; and as we were also in Expectation of receiving some Ships with Provisions from Carlscrona, under Vice-Admiral Philander's Convoy, we had the good Fortune the Day after to meet him 4 Miles to the Eastward of Bornholm: Whereupon the Admiral held a Council of War with all the Flag Officers and other Commanders to be informed of the Condition each Ship was in, and represented to them, that seeing he had now received a Supply of Provisions, he was resolv'd to return to the Island of Rugen if the Wind should change, and if the Commanders judg'd themselves in a Condition to do his Majesty any further Service before the Ships were repair'd; upon which they all unanimously declared, that as it was their Duty, so they were willing and ready to sacrifice their Lives for the Service of their Sovereign, but that their Ships were not in a Condition to keep the Sea, or do the least Service, without being first repaired; and particularly the Ship Unity was found to be in such a Condition, that she could carry no Sail but must be towed home, having above 150 Shot in her Hull, besides 40 under Water; the Ships Ofel, Gotland and Pomerania had already been oblig'd to seek Harbour, being so shatter'd and leaky at first that they were intirely useless. The Admiral Ship the Gothick Lyon has 140 Shot in her Hull and 10 under Water, so that she must be continually pump'd, besides that all our Masts, Rigging and Sails are so much shot thorough and in Pieces, that they are all unserviceable. That we received so many Shot under Water was occasioned by our Ships being all to the Leeward: The Enemy took Care likewise to keep at such a Distance, that we could hardly reach their Ships with our Cannon of 18 Pound-Ball, wherefore we could not do them any Damage with the Guns of our upper Tire, but were oblig'd to defend our selves as well as we could with our largest Guns. And this is the Reason, that in so long and violent a Cannonading we have lost but few Men; most of the Damage that is done having fallen upon the Hulls and Rigging of the Ships, there being only about sixty Men killed or wounded on board the Admiral, and the other Ships have only lost in Proportion. The Enemy had very heavy Cannon, and the Bullets from the Danish Admiral, which stuck in the Admiral's Hull, weigh'd upward of 36 Pound. In this Action both Admiral Henck and Admiral Lillie were kill'd, together with Captain Grother and Lieutenant Leerberg, and one Lieutenant only of the Land-Forces; but no Account is yet taken of the Number of Under-Officers and Seamen that are kill'd.
