SCHEDULE TO THE ORDER

This area lies above the Pennine Scarp 5½ kilometres east of Dufton and approximately 8½ kilometres north-east of Appleby-in-Westmorland within the North Pennines AONB and the Appleby Fells SSSI notified in 1988. The notification area totals 350 hectares.

The limestone pavements lie on a level plateau at 580 metres AOD immediately above the scarp and the spectacular Whin Sill dolerite intrusion known as High Cup Scar. The plateau lies between higher fells of Slegistone Band to the north-west and Murtion Herds to the south-east. High Cup Scar forms a prominent landscape feature visible from the A66(T) and many parts of the Eden Valley.

The outcrops which are open and mostly flat lie in hollows in the surrounding peat. The Pennine Way National Trail divides into two near the south-west extremities of the site and the pavements can be seen from the branches which pass along two sides. Flora on the pavements is restricted because of altitude and nature of the pavements, many of the grikes being broad, shallow and grassy. Unusual features include the presence of relict woodland flora and bilberry.

Full details of the landscape, flora, fauna, geology and physiography of the site can be found in the notification, a copy of which is available on request.

B. Walker, Head of Legal Services, The Courts, Carlisle CA3 8LZ.

SCHEDULE TO THE ORDER

This area lies approximately 8 kilometres west of Penrith and consists of a main section lying 1½ kilometres north-west of Greystoke Village and two outliers: one near Berrier Hill to the south-west and the other at Johnby Craggs to the east. The total area notified is 415 hectares. None of the sites have conservation status at present.

The limestone pavements of the Greystoke area form gently sloping, and in places, undulating sheets and range from open, treeless pavements, to outcrops with scattered small trees and patches within woodland. The majority are found on a broad band running north-west to south-east across the central part of the Greystoke Estate in the vicinity of Summerground Craggs. While mostly open, nearby Summerground Wood contains an outcrop of wooded pavement.

The outcrops near Berrier Hill form an isolated area of pavement lying under scattered thorn bushes on open boggy ground, at one edge of a large field. There are no public rights of way crossing the above areas which are also remote from public roads.

The pavements to the east on gently sloping ground above the small scars of Johnby Craggs, are at a lower altitude and mainly scattered bushes and small trees. These pavements are close to the road from Greystoke to Johnby from which they can easily be seen.

The clients have been subject to small-scale removal for wall building and some displacement. The majority of the outcrops are undamaged and no recent removal has taken place.
