Paris, April 6. On the 14th of this Month, a Declaration in the King's Name, by Advice of the Regent, was registred in Parliament; by which the Bills and Orders issued out of the Treasury for the Principal and Interest of Sums lent on the feveral Royal Funds, or advanced for the publick Service during the late War, are all reduced more or less on different Pretences; generally by the following Sort of Rules, viz. Such as remain in the Hands of those Persons to whom they were originally issued, for the Loans or Advances in Specie actually made by them, are reduced One Fifth; those which have been issued to Persons upon Contracts in which they are supposed to have had an Advantage above the common Interest of Money, are reduced some to Three, others to Two Fifths; and such as have passed through divers Hands, and been often bought and fold at Discount, are reduced to One Fifth.

Hague, April 10. The States General having resolved upon their Quota of Men of War intended to compose a Squadron jointly with those of Great Britain, for the Security of the Trade of both Nations in the Baltick, have, for the more ready Equipment of those Ships, impowered the feveral Colleges of the Admiralty concerned therein, to borrow the Sum of Four hundred thousand Florins at 4 per Cent. We are now expecting the Resolutions of the Court of Great Britain, as to their Contingent, which according to the Repartition, established by Treaty, is to bear the Proportion of five Ships to three. The Envoy from this State to the Court of Denmark, who has been absent from his Post these two Years, is now ordered to hasten thither. Our Letters from Vienna tell us, that the Empress continued in very good Health, and reck-oned to lie in about Easter; and that Count Trautmansdorff who was the Imperial Ambasfador in Swifferland during the last War, was returned from that Employment. Some Advices from Constantinople say, that the Ottomon Port had declared they would look upon as Enemies all fuch as should give any Assistance to the Venetians directly or indirectly. By Letters from Paris of the 6th we learn, that the Duke of Ossuna, who was one of the Plenipotentiaries on the Part of Spain at the Treaty of Utrecht, being thought in a good way of Recovery from a dangerous Fit of Sickness, relapsed and dyed there on the 3d.
