Venice, July 24. We have received Advice, that on the 8th Instant there was an Engagement between the Fleet of this Republick and that of the Turks, in sight of the Island of Corfu. Our Fleet having got the Wind of the Enemy, bore down upon them and fought them with great Bravery, keeping the Wind of them from Four in the Afternoon till Night. The Sultana which had the Turkish Admiral on board, was very much shattered. On our Side, the Man of War commanded by Sig. Cornaro, which was hard pressed by 6 Sultanas, was rescued by the Man of War commanded by Sig. Flangini. The two Fleets being parted by the coming on of Night, prepared to renew the Engagement the next Day, but the Weather being calm prevented Action. Our Fleet had not at that Time been joined by any of the Auxiliaries; but the Maltese Squadron being arrived at Cape St. Mary, was expected continually, as were also the other Auxiliaries; and we wait with Impatience to learn the Particulars of what has passed. Some Advices by the Way of Ortranto say, the Turks having before the Engagement landed 10000 Men on the Island of Corfu, they were cut off from their Fleet, and had neither Cannon, Ammunition nor Provisions. They add, that 4 of the Turkish Sultanas were disabled in the Fight, and that several others were much shattered.
