SCHEDULE

The conservation area has been drawn to comprise all the buildings and land within the following boundaries:

The boundary to the south-west is formed by the boundary of the main railway building of Shrewsbury Railway Station and the junction of railway land with Shrewsbury Castle. The boundary extends across the river by means of the south-west side of the railway viaduct and then extends northwards along the bank of the River Severn to a point opposite the junction, on the opposite side of the river, between Sydney Avenue and New Park Road.

The boundary then continues south along the north-western edge of the Sydney Avenue recreation ground as far south as the junction with the allotment gardens. The boundary then extends in a north-westerly direction along the rear boundary of houses on the south-west side of Tarvin Road, as far as the junction with New Park Road.

The boundary then continues to the north-east along the frontage garden curtilage of houses on the south-east side of New Park Road from Argyle Street, as far as the rear garden curtilages of the houses on the north-east side of Sultan Road. The boundary then continues in a north-westerly direction along the rear garden curtilages of the houses on the north-east side of Sultan Road as far as the junction with Spring Gardens. The northern curtilage of the Midland Red Bus Depot and Staff Club then forms the boundary of the Conservation Area including these buildings within the Conservation Area. The Conservation Area boundary then encloses the former Ditherington Flax Mill (The Maltings), and continues south-westerly along the boundary of the operational railway line as far as the north side of Crewe Street.

The boundary then returns along the south-west garden curtilages of the houses on the south-west of St. Michael's Terrace as far as the rear garden boundary of The Dolphin Inn. The Dolphin Inn and its curtilage is included in the Conservation Area, but the County Fire Station is not included within the designated Conservation Area and the boundary is the back of the footpath of the north-west side of St. Michael's Street in a southern direction as far as Derfald Street. Derfald House and its curtilage is included within the Conservation Area and from there the boundary continues south along the back of the footpath on the north-west side of St. Michael's Street as far as the access road which leads under the railway to the coal yard. The boundary then turns in a north-west direction on the south-west side of the accessway to the coal yard as far as the operational railway line boundary. The boundary then is formed by the rear curtilage of the open yards at the rear of the properties fronting onto the north-west side of Castle Foregate as far as the railway bridge at the junction of Castle Foregate and Howard Street. The boundary then joins up to the previously designated Conservation Area boundary by means of the line of the G.P.O. bridge over the operational railway line.

The following streets are included in the Conservation Area:

Castle Foregate, Howard Street, Beacall's Lane, Albert Street, Severn Street, Dorset Street, The Dana, Victoria Street, Severn Bank, Sydney Avenue, Water Street, Benyon Street, West Street, Burton Street, North Street, Queen Street, New Park Street, Victoria Terrace, Lindley Street, Derfald Street, Crewe Street, St. Michael's Terrace, St. Michael's Street, part of Spring Gardens, part of New Park Road, John Street, Argyle Street, New Park Close, Sultan Road, Hallcroft Court and Marshall's Court.
