Transport for London

Transport for London hereby gives notice that it is consulting on a draft revision to the Mayor's Transport Strategy to enable an extension of the area of coverage of the central London congestion charging scheme.

The Mayor of London has delegated responsibility to TfL for preparing a limited revision to the Transport Strategy, which would allow for a possible westward extension to the central London congestion charging scheme to cover most of Kensington & Chelsea and Westminster. The Transport Strategy Revision: Central London Congestion Charging—Draft for Stakeholder and Public Consultation is proposed to replace sections 4G.61 to 4G.82 and Proposals 4G.12, 13 and 14 of the Mayor's Transport Strategy. No other sections of the existing Transport Strategy would be replaced. All the remaining policies and proposals still apply, although it is proposed that these would be considered for revision in due course. The draft revision to the Transport Strategy explains why the western extension has been proposed, which areas would be affected, how the proposed extended scheme would work and the likely traffic and transport impacts of an extended congestion charging scheme.

On behalf of the Mayor, TfL is undertaking a public consultation on a draft revision to the Transport Strategy from 16 February 2004, to run for 10 weeks and ending on 23 April 2004.

A copy of an information leaflet summarising the proposal, A Proposal to Extend the Central London Congestion Charging Scheme to Cover Most of Kensington & Chelsea and Westminster will be delivered to every household and business address within Greater London. The leaflet contains information about the proposal, including a map of the proposed extension to the congestion charging zone, the reasons for extending the scheme and an explanation of how it would operate. There is also a questionnaire to complete.

The questionnaire can be returned to TfL via a freepost address given in the leaflet or by completing an online questionnaire, which is available at www.tfl.gov.uk/ccextension. If consultees wish to make any additional comments to those provided on the questionnaire, these can be enclosed together with the questionnaire in an envelope and returned to Congestion Charging, Transport for London, FREEPOST NAT 12012, PO Box 44753, London SW1H 0BR.

Copies of the leaflet, questionnaires and Transport Strategy Revision: Central London Congestion Charging—Draft for Stakeholder and the Public can be downloaded from TfL's website at www.tfl.gov.uk/ccextension and copies may be inspected at all reasonable hours at the offices of Transport for London, Faith Lawson House, 15 Dacre Street, London SW1H 0DJ.

Copies of the leaflet and questionnaire as well as versions in Braille, large print, audio tape, Arabic, Bengali, Chinese, Greek, Gujarati, Hindi, Punjabi, Turkish, Urdu and Vietnamese can be obtained by calling a freephone number—0800 106062. Minicom users can call 0800 106057. Representations should be confined to the proposed extension only, and not extend to other aspects of congestion charging and should be made in writing. All or part of a representation may be imparted to other persons who may be affected by it. Confidential details that should not be made available for general, public inspection should be marked as such.

The Mayor will consider all representations related to the proposed extension received before deciding whether or not to publish a revised Transport Strategy enabling a western extension to be further developed.

Any person or organisation may make representations on or comment on the draft revision to the Transport Strategy. All representations and completed questionnaires must be received by 23 April 2004.
