On the 8th, while the King was out of Town, Count Freytag notified to Count Horn by his Mamanioff, as his Interpreter. fter the Emperour's Order, that his Imperial Majefty had now fully determined to fend his Plenipotentiaries to Brunfwick very fhortly; and defired that his Swedish Majefty would also please to fend his Plenipotentiaries forthwith to that Congress ; and in cafe the Czar could not be brought to just and reasonable Terms of Peace, his Imperial Majefty would then be ready to enter into all fuch Con-certs as Thould be found proper for obli-ging the Czar by Arms to agree to fuch Conditions as Thould be judged fafe and ho nourable for Sweden.

Stockholm, Dec. 21. On the 15th Inftant, Count Horn defired a Conference with the British and other foreign Ministers refiding here, and acquainted them that feeing another Meffenger was lately come hither from Petersbourg, he was directed by his Swedish Magefty to declare to them, that the Errand he came upon was only to bring a Letter which the Czar had thought fit to fend as an Answer to one his Swedish Majesty wrote lately to that Prince by his Adjutant General Romanios;

but that the Czar's Letter contained little mo re, than a Repetition of his former Proposals, only now be flaces fome Inclination to agree upon a general Cartel for the Exchange of Prifoners which he before declined . And shat upon this laft Account the King had refolved to fend Auditor-General Dahlman back with the Mulcovite Officer to receive Proposals; and they fet out accordingly the 17th at Night for Petersburg.
