Whitehall, March 19.

AN humble Address of the Members of His Majesty's Council, and the Assembly met at Charles-Town for the Province of South Carolina, the 15th of January, 1721. has been presented to His Majesty by John Lloyd, Esq; Agent for that Province, introduced by the Right Honourable the Lord Carteret, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State.

Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

Lisbon, March 12, N. S. On the 3d Instant the Fleet from the Rio de Janeiro, consisting of 14 Merchant Ships, under the Convoy of two Men of War, entered this Harbour. They have brought to the Value of a Million Sterling in Gold Dust, Gold Bars, and Moedas, and above eight hundred thousand Pieces of Eight in Silver. The Rio and Bahia Fleets have Orders to be in a Readiness to sail for Brasil about the Middle of next Month. His Britannick Majesty's Ships Dragon and Trial Sloop are in this River, from whence they are to carry a Supply of Money to the Forces in Minorca and at Gibraltar. The Winchelsea Man of War arrived the 26th past from Genoa, and was Yesterday admitted to Pratick: The same Day came into the River His Britannick Majesty's Ship the Dursley Galley from the Downs.

Turin, March 14, N. S. The Court is at Vercelli. The Preparations for the Princess's Reception are continued here with all Diligence. Madame Royale has on this Occasion caused her Palace and Apartments to be adorned in a very sumptuous Manner: The Front of that Palace towards the Square being new, wanted no Ornament; but that behind being Part of the Old Castle looks much decayed and ruinous, and answering directly the Street and Gate by which the Princess is to make her Entry, her Royal Highness has caused it to be covered all over with a thick Canvas supported by Scaffolding, which is so artfully painted that it presents to the View a noble Pile of Architecture, not to be distinguished at a small Distance from a real Building. The 12th Instant being the Birth-Day of her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, Mr. Molesworth

His Britannick Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, entertained here several of the Nobility of both Sexes with a very fine Concert of Musick, and afterwards with a Supper, where all the Company wore Leeks in Honour to the Princess and the antient British Nation.

Turin, March 18, N. S. The King and Queen with the Prince and Princess are expected here this Evening, and all Hands are at work in getting ready the Illuminations and other publick Demonstrations of Joy. We have Advice that the Emperour's Treatment of the Princess as she passed through his Territories was every where magnificent, but especially at Milan, where the Governour himself attended by a very great Number of the Nobility went out to meet her Highness at some Distance from the Town: The Cannon of all the Imperial fortified Places through which she passed were fired at her Entrance and Departure, the Soldiers being under Arms. The Republick of Venice deputed forty Nobles who waited on her Highness while she remained in their Dominions: The Marquess de Martignano entertained her very nobly and elegantly in her Passage through the Brescian at two of his Houses, which were illuminated on all Sides with white Wax Torches from Top to Bottom; and the Gardens were all adorned with Devices and Mottoes wrought in transparent Silk of various Colours illuminated behind: The Marquess had also sent for some of the best Musicians and Singers from Venice, who performed a fine Concert the first Evening, and a Pastoral Opera the second, with which her Highness was much pleased. Upon Advice of her Arrival near the Barrier, the Prince of Piedmont set out from Vercelli on Horseback to meet her, accompanied by 24 Persons of the Court appointed for that purpose, and by hundreds of other Gentlemen likewise on Horseback, with a Detachment of Horse-Guards who received her at the Barrier from a like Detachment of German Cuirassiers. The Interviews between the Prince and Princess, and between their Majesties and her Highness, were observed to be very polite and affectionate. They supped in Publick at Vercelli, waited on by a great Number of Ladies and of the Nobility from Casal, Valence, and all the Neighbouring Towns; and this Evening will receive the Compliments here of the Nobility and other Persons of Distinction.
