By the Lord Lieutenant General and General Governour of Ireland,

A DECLARATION.

CARTERET,

WHEREAS upon Viewing the last Muster taken of His Majesty's Army in this Kingdom, it appeared to Us, That divers Officers have taken Liberty, at their own Pleasure, to leave the Places wherein they are Garrisoned or Posted, without Licence from the Government; and many others who did obtain Licence do stay from their Duty beyond the Time allowed them, to the Detriment of His Majesty's Service, and contrary to all good Order and Discipline. For Prevention therefore of so great Neglect of Duty, and the Inconveniencies that may happen thereupon, We have thought fit hereby to Require and Command all Officers and Soldiers, now absent without Licence, immediately to repair to their respective Garrisons or Quarters, and there remain at their Duty; and all such as are absent by Licence, to return at the Expiration of such Licences, to their several Garrisons or Posts where they are to continue. And for the future, no Officer is, upon any Pretence whatsoever, to absent himself from his Garrison or Quarter, without special Licence in Writing first obtained from Us, otherwise they must expect to be answerable for their Disobedience.

Given at His Majesty's Castle of Dublin the Twenty Eighth Day of June 1725.

By his Excellency's Command,
Tho. Clutterbuck.
God save the King.
