Dublin, November 30.

ON Tuesday the 28th Instant the Parliament having met according to Appointment, his Excellency the Lord-Lieutenant went in State to the House of Peers, and being seated on the Throne with the usual Ceremony, his Excellency sent for the Commons, and directed them to chuse a Speaker; and they having unanimously elected the Right Honourable William Conolly, Esq; into that Office, he was by them presented, and was approved by his Excellency. Afterwards his Excellency made a Speech to both Houses, who unanimously Resolved upon humble and dutiful Addresses to His Majesty, which were this Day presented to his Excellency.

His Excellency John Lord Carteret Lord-Lieutenant-General and General Governour of Ireland, his Speech to both Houses of Parliament, at Dublin: On Tuesday the 28th Day of November, 1727.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

HIS Majesty has been graciously pleased to call you together, as soon after the Deceas of His Royal Father, our late most gracious Sovereign, of Glorious Memory, as the necessary Affairs of His Government would permit.

The Death of so Good and Great a King, must no doubt in a very sensible Manner have affected the Subjects of this Kingdom, who during the whole Course of His Reign, so remarkably exerted themselves in the Support of His Government, and the Succession in His Royal House.

But that great Loss has been repair'd by His Majesty's peaceable Accession to the Throne of His Royal Ancestors, by which all the Blessings of the late Reign have not only been continued to us, but secured in their utmost Extent.

The Regard His Majesty has shewn to the Religion, Laws and Liberties of His People, and the Assurances He has been pleased to give, That the Preservation of the Constitution in Church and State as it is now happily Established, shall be His first, and always His chief Care, must make the deepest Impression upon us, as they are known to proceed from the Sincerity of His Royal Heart, and from His Knowledge and Love of our Constitution.

These gracious Instances of His Majesty's Concern for the Happiness of His People, and the good Opinion He has always had of the Loyalty and Affection of His Subjects of Ireland, will, I am persuaded, Engage you with the greatest Zeal and Unanimity to support His Government.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons;

I have ordered the proper Officers to lay before you the several Accounts and Estimates, and have nothing in Command from His Majesty to ask, but the necessary Supplies for the Support of the Establishment, and for the Defence and Security of this Kingdom: And His Majesty doubts not, but you will give as great Testimonies of Duty and Affection to Him, as have been given to any of His Royal Predecessors.

The Necessity of the publick Service having required that some of the Regiments upon this Establishment should be sent Abroad, His Majesty has determined to replace them as soon as the Exigency of His Affairs will permit. And I think myself obliged to take Notice on this Occasion, that the seasonable Resolution of the last House of Commons, to enable His late Majesty to put this Kingdom and the Forces on this Establishment into such a Condition as might contribute to disappoint all Attempts of His Enemies, hath greatly conduced to the Purpose for which it was intended.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

I recommend to you to consider of such Laws as may be necessary to be made or continued for the Encouragement of your Manufactures, the Employment of the Poor, and the general Good of this Country; and to enforce the Execution of those that relate to the Security of the Publick; and the preventing Popish Priests and Regulars from coming into this Kingdom.

The Experience I have already had of His Majesty's Subjects of Ireland, makes my Return to this Government most agreeable to me. I doubt not, but the Behaviour of this Parliament will be such, as will recommend you in the most effectual Manner to His Royal Favour; and as I shall be glad of every Opportunity to promote the Welfare of this Kingdom, I shall represent in the strongest Manner to His Majesty, your Duty, Loyalty and Affection to His Sacred Person and Government.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty, The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal in Parliament assembled, with all Humility lay hold of this first Opportunity to approach your sacred Person, and condole with you upon the Death of your Royal Father our late most gracious Sovereign, of glorious glorious Memory ; at the same Time beseeching your Majesty to accept our sincerest Congratulations upon your peaceable and happy Accession to the Throne of these Kingdoms.

The Death of so great and good a Prince, could not but in the most sensible Manner affect the Hearts of your faithful Subjects of this Kingdom, who had so long enjoyed an uninterrupted Course of many great and signal Blessings under his mild and just Administration ; but we must ever thankfully acknowledge, that the Divine Goodness has fully repaired this Loss, by placing your Majesty upon the Throne of your Royal Ancestors, which has not only continued and secured all those Blessings to us, but given us the pleasing Prospect of still greater under your most auspicious Reign.

The Regard your Majesty has shewn to the Religion, Laws and Liberties of your People, your Knowledge and Love of our Constitution in Church and State, are, under God's good Providence, sure Foundations of all that publick Happiness which we can hope for from the undisturbed Enjoyment of all our religious and civil Rights. But when we further consider your Majesty's Royal Virtues, which so eminently qualify you for the Rule and Conduct of a great People, the distinguished Merit of the Queen your Royal Consort, and the promising Appearances of the same hereditary Virtues in your numerous and Royal Issue, we justly enlarge our Hopes, and can set no Bounds to the growing Happiness of these Nations under your illustrious and Royal House.

Your calling us together so soon after the Decease of your Royal Father, to consider of such Laws as may be found necessary to encourage our Manufactures, to employ our Poor, and provide for the Safety of the Kingdom, is so great an Instance of your early and paternal Care for it, as must ever beget in us a suitable Return of Duty and Zeal for your sacred Person and Government.

Nor can we omit to acknowledge it as a further Instance of your Goodness to this Kingdom, that you have been pleased to continue the Government of it in his Excellency the Lord Carteret ; the Confidence placed in him by two great Kings, and the Experience we have had of his constant Endeavours equally to promote the Service of your Majesty and the Interest of your People, must ever make his Government most acceptable to us.

We want Words to express the grateful Sentiments of our Hearts, for the good Opinion your Majesty has been pleased to entertain of the Loyalty and Affections of your Subjects of Ireland : This and the many Instances you have given us of your tender Concern for your Peoples Welfare, call upon us for the highest Returns of Duty Zeal and Affection to your Majesty's Person and Government. And we assure your Majesty, that we will, with the utmost Cheerfulness and Unanimity, do every thing in our Power that may contribute to support and defend your Government, and the Succession in your Royal Line.

The Lord-Lieutenant's Answer to the Lords Address to His Majesty.

I Will forthwith transmit this Dutiful and Loyal Address, in order to be laid before His Majesty.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty, The humble Address of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeses in Parliament assembled.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament assembled, humbly beg Leave to approach your sacred Person, to express our Sorrow for the Death of your Royal Father, our late most Excellent King.

The Loss of a Prince, under whose prudent Government your People enjoyed the greatest Security and Happiness, affected in the most sensible Manner the Subjects of this Kingdom ; and the real Grief with which our Hearts were filled, could be removed only by the Goodness of Providence, which placed your Majesty on the Throne, and gave us a firm Assurance of all the Blessings which the best of Princes can confer on the happiest People.

Our unfeigned Congratulations upon your Majesty's peaceable Accession to the Throne of your Ancestors, are farther heightened by that Prospect of Happiness, which your Majesty and your Royal Consort our most gracious Queen, have extended to our Posterity by a numerous and Royal Issue, and by setting before them an Example of all those Virtues which are requisite to adorn the Throne and bless a Nation.

We return your Majesty our most humble Thanks for being pleased to call your People together in Parliament, as soon as the necessary Affairs of your Government would permit ; and we gladly lay hold on this Opportunity of expressing that grateful Sense which your Commons will ever entertain for the Regard you have shewn to the Religion, Laws and Liberties of your Subjects ; and for confirming the Sentiments they always had of your great Goodness, by the solemn Declaration you have graciously made, that the Preservation of the Constitution in Church and State, as it is now happily established, shall be your first and always your chief Care ; which could proceed from no other than a Heart filled with the most consummate Knowledge and Love of our Constitution.

And we assure your Majesty, that we shall constantly endeavour, by our Unanimity and Zeal for your Service, and the Support of your Government, to deserve and obtain the Continuance of your Royal Favour and Protection.

We entreat your Majesty to accept our humblest Acknowledgments for the many Instances of your Royal Goodness to your Subjects of this Kingdom, and particularly for committing the Government of it to his Excellency the Lord Carteret, of whose steady Loyalty to your sacred Person, and of whose Ability and Zeal to promote the Welfare and Prosperity of your People, we have had the fullest Experience.

We will with all Diligence apply ourselves to consider of and prepare such Laws as may conduce to the general Good, and particularly of such as may prevent Popish Priests and Regulars from coming into this Kingdom, and continue such others as have been found to contribute to the Interest and Advantage of this Nation.

And

And to convince the World that your Majesty has the intire Possession of the Hearts of your faithful Commons of Ireland, we will not fail to give as great Testimonies of our Duty and Affection to your Majesty, as we have been ever given to any of your Royal Predecessors, by providing with the utmost Chearfulness and Unanimity such necessary Supplies for the Support of your Government, as shall enable your Majesty to keep the Forces on this Establishment in a Condition to disappoint the Attempts of your Enemies.
