General Post Office, June 25, 1728.

Whereas by the Ast of Parliament of the 9th of Queen Anne, for establishing a General Post Office, it is amongst other things enasted, That no Person or Persons whatsoever shall have the carrying and delivering of any Letters whatsoever, unless such Persons only as shall be authorized thereunto by the Postmaster General, under the Penalty of Five Pounds for every several Offence against the Tenor of the said Act, one Moiety thereof to the King, and the other Moiety to the Person who shall sue for the same, with full Costs of Suit; Tet notwithstanding, it is found that Letters are frequently carried and delivered by Persons who are not authorized thereunto, but by some illegal Means possess themselves of Letters which should have passed through the General Post Office, and in particular Ship Letters, and to make an Advantage to themselves, demand Mener for the Port of such Letters, and sometimes by counterseiting the Marks of the Office exast more than the legal Port would come to had they been regularly taxed in the Office. To prewent therefore as much as possible this clandessime manner of carrying and delivering of Letters, which is very prejudicial to the Subjest in many Respects, and also a Loss to His Majesty's Revenue,

It is ordered by the Pustmaster General, That every Letter Carrier whose Walk is within London, Westminster, or Southwark, shall, as a Badge of his Emplyment, wear a Brass Ticket upon some (the most wishle) Part of his Cloathing, with the King's Arms upon it, which Ticket he is always to wear whilf he is upon Duty.

And all Persons who shall discover any Letter Carrier, Porter, or other Person or Persons what sever, delivering Letters which should have passed through the General Post Office without such Badge or Ticket upon the most wishle Part of their Cloathing, are desired to give information thereof to the Postmaster General, that the Offenders may be prosecuted according to Law; and for such Information they shall meet with all siting Encouragement.
