St. James's, December 18.

This Day Sir Hans Sloane President, with several of the Council and many other Fellows of the Royal Society, waited on His Royal Highness Prince Frederick ; and the President made their Compliments to His Royal Highness by the following Speech.

May it please your Royal Highness,

THE Royal Society of London founded to promote Natural Knowledge and useful Arts, beg Leave to express their Joy and Satisfaction on your Royal Highness's safe Arrival in England.

Your Royal Highness is not unacquainted, with what Success Natural and Experimental Knowledge have been advanced, Astronomy, Geography, and Navigation improved, Husbandry and Gardening cultivated, Trade and Manufactures promoted, and above all, the infinite Wisdom and Power of Almighty God the Author of Nature in creating and preserving the Universe set forth and demonstrated, by the

the uncommon Industry and Application of many Members heretofore Ornaments of this Society, under the Encouragement of your Royal Ancestors.

Nor do the Renown, Learning and Abilities of many of its present Members, give us a less confident and pleasing Prospect, that under the Royal Patronage of His Majesty, the gracious Protection of the Queen, and what we now promise ourselves, the favourable Influence of a Prince of such noble Endowments and Dispositions of Mind, they may hereafter as effectually carry on and promote the Ends of their Institution.

We therefore most humbly intreat your Royal Highness to grant us the great Honour of inscribing your Name in our Book of Charters and Laws, as an early Instance of your Royal Highness's Favour and nearer Concern for the Success of our Endeavours.

His Royal Highness, at their humble Request, was pleased to write his Name in their Book.

And they all had the Honour to kiss his Royal Highness's Hand.
