Brussels, May 19, N. S.

HE Duke of Lorrain is entertained here with Hunting, magnificent Treats, and Processions. On Tuesday the Duke dined at the Prince of Horne's, and the next Day at the Count de Lalaing's, where his Highness saw the Procession made here on account of the Canonization of St. John Nepomucene, and in Memory of his Martyrdom. There were five Triumphal Arches which represented the History of it: All the Houses in the Streets where the Procession passed, were adorned with Tapistry, Pictures, and Greens. The several Orders of Monks, the Council of Brabant, the Officers of the Archdutchess, the Ladies, and the whole Court affisted: The Prince de Rubempre carried the Standard, four Chamberlains supported the Canopy over the Host; and four Canons of the Abbey of Caubergue, from whence the Procession began, carried the Bust of the Saint in Silver, adorned with Jewels, with a little Trunk containing some of his Reliques. Yesterday the Duke of Lorrain took the Diversion of Hunting the Wild Boar at Tervuren, after which the Archdutchess entertained him with a magnificent Collation. Within these three Days past, some Squadrons of the Dutch Regiments of Le Lecq, and Rech-teren, and two Swiss Regiments of Foot, have passed through this City coming from the Barrier Towns, and going to other Gar-risons. The Engineer General de Beausse is come hither from his Government of Lier, to receive Orders for finishing the Works that are adding at Luxembourg, to the Fort Bourbon, without the Gate of Thionville. M. Assendelst, Resident from the States General at this Court, is gone with his Family for two Months to Aix la Chapelle.
