their Bonnets on their Heads.

The Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of Rochester Dean of Westminster, and Dean of the Order, in his Mantle, with his Badge pendent to a Gold Chain, carrying the Forms of the Oaths and Admonitions to be given to the Knights nominated, fairly engroffed upon Vellum, and covered with his square Cap.

The Great Master in his full Habit, and with his Collar, covered with the white Hat adorn'd with the Plume of Feathers.

His Royal Highness the Duke in his full Habit, and with his Collar, covered with the white Hat adorn'd with the Plume of Fea-

In this Form they proceeded to the Chapel of Henry VII. at the East End of the Abbey of Westminster.

The twelve Alms-men there entered two and and two, and coming to the Middle of the Choir, did altogether in a Body make a joint and low Reverence to the Altar, and turning about, then made their Obeisance towards the Sovereign's Stall, and then dividing themselves, stood on each Side in a Row down from the Rails of the Altar.

The Mellenger of the Order in like Manner flood below the Alms-Men.

The Esquires of the Knights nominated, having made a short Stand at the Door, while the Alms-men and Messenger thus placed themselves, entered three and three, those of the Junior Knights first, and being in a Body, made the like Reverences together in the Middle of the Choir, and stood before their respective Seats, underneath the Stalls of their Knights.

The Prebendaries of the Church of Westminster, two and two, entered with the like Obeisances, and placed themselves within the Rails of the Altar to affift at Divine Service.

The Pursuivants, Heralds, and the Provincial Kings of Arms, likewise entered in the same Manner, and stood before the Forms placed for them, under the Stall of his Royal Highness, to take especial Care to shew the Knights their respective Banners upon their Entries.

Then the Knights nominated entered with the like Obeifances, and retired, and stood under their Banners.

The two Knights Companions in the lowest Stalls entered, and patting up near to their Banners, made their double Reverences together in the Middle of the Choir, and then retired under their Banners.

Who being thus plac'd, all the other Knights by Pairs, or fingly, if the Knight in the opposite Stall was absent, with the like Ceremonies, took their Stations under their Banners.

Then the Register, in Breast with the Secretary and Gentleman-Usher, in the same Method, stood before their Bench, at the Foot of the Sovereign's Stall.

Garter, the Genealogist, and Bath King of Arms, did the same, and stood before their Bench.

The Dean, in like manner stood before his Chair, placed at the Foot of the Sovereign's Stall.

The Great Master entered single, with the like Obeisances, and retired under his Banner. His Royal Highness the Duke entered alone.

and having made the like Reverences, stood under his Banner.

Bath King of Arms made his Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, and turned himself to his Royal Highness the Duke, who under his Banner made his Reverences, and then ascended into his Stall, where he repeated the same, and sat down covered.

Then Bath turned himself to the Great Master, who with the like Ceremonies took his Stall, and fat down covered.

Then Bath turned himself to the Knight in the next Stall, his Companion being absent, who at the same Instant made the like Obeisances below, and repeated them in his Stall, and fat down covered.

In like manner, all the Residue of the Companions having waited the Seating of those in the upper Stalls, did in their Courses, take their respective Stalls, by Pairs, or fingly, according to the former Rules, by fuch Passages as that the troubling any Knight in an higher Stall might best be avoided: Excepting only the two Junior Knights Companions, who continued under their Banners, in order to offer the Hatchments of the deceased Knights.

Which being done, the Knights to be installed continued under their Banners, the Officers of Arms, and the Officers of the Or-BathKing of Arms then delivered to the Great der, having made their Reverences, placed themselves on their Forms with the like Ceremonies.

Bath King of Arms then went into the Middle of the Choir, and having made his Reverences, repaired to the Place where he had before laid the Hatchments of the deceased Knights, and then took up the Banner of the eldest Knight deceased, which he held almost rolled up.

The Provincial Kings then went into the Middle of the Choir, made their Reverentes, and repaired to the two Companions, standing under their Banners, who thereon joined and received the Banner from Bath, and made their Obeisances towards the Altar, and then towards the Sovereign's Stall, and being preceded by these Kings of Arms, carried the Banner, the Point forward, to the Step of the Altar, where they made the same Reverence to the Altar only, and then delivered the Banner to the Prebends, who placed it upright at the End of the Altar, and then making the same Reverences, as in their coming up, they returned to the Place where Bath had placed the Sword, which they received from him, and carried it with the Pomel or Hilt upwards, and offered it in like Manner, and being then returned, they received the Helmet and Crest, and offered them in the fame Manner.

In this Form the Hatchments of each deceafed Companion was offered one after the other.

Then these Companions, having thus performed the Offerings of the Harchments, ascended into their Stalls.

Then Bath King of Arms taking up the Cushion, whereon he had placed the Mantle, the Great Collar of the Order, and the Book of Statutes, and having the Gentleman Usher on his left Hand, and being followed by the Dean, who then did arise from his Chair, they made their Reverences in the Middle of the Choir.

And then the Great Master, having made his Obeisances in his Stall, came down into the Middle of the Choir and repeated the same, and then proceeded, and entered into the Stall of the eldest Knight nominated, and then the Knight came from under his Banner, and making his Reverences, ascended into the Stall.

Master, the Transcript of the Statutes attested under the Seal of the Order, who delivered it to the Knight, and then the Dean administered unto the Knight the Oath enjoined, Bath holding the Book of the Gospels, which was of the Tenour following, "You shall honour God above " all Things; You shall be stedsaft in the Cause of Christ; You shall love your "King your Sovereign Lord, and Him, " and His Right defend to your Power; You shall defend Maidens, Widows, and " Orphans, in their Rights, and shall suf-" fer no Extortion, as far as you may pre-" vent it; and of as great Honour be this " Order unto you, as ever it was to any of " your Progenitors or others." Which being done, Bath presented the Mantle to the Great Master, who invested the Knight therewith, and then Bath delivered the Great Collar, which the Great Master fastened over the Knight's Shoulder, and then the Great Master placed the White Hat with Feathers on the Head of the Knight, and feated him down in his Stall, who rifing up, made his Reverences, and the Great Master having embraced him, descended, and having made his Obeisances in the Middle of the Choir, proceeded in the like Manner to install all the other Knights nominated.

Which being finished, and the Great Master returned to his own Stall, the Dean was conducted to the Altar, and Bath and Gentleman Usher being returned to their Benches (all which Ceremonies were done with the double Obeisances) Divine Service then began: During which Time, the Knights Companions put their Hats upon the Cushions laid before them.

Upon the first Sentence of the Offertory, Lex your Light so shine, &c. the Musick playing, Bath stepped from his Bench, made his double Reverences in the Middle of the Choir, and coming before the Stall of the Junior Knight, bowed to him, and immediately turned himself to the opposite Side, bowing to the Knight in that Stall, who arose and making their double Obeisances both at one Time in their Stalls, descended into the Middle of the Choir, where they repeated the same, and retired under their Banners. Bath then in like Manner fummoned the Knights in the next Stalls, and so throughout the whole Course of Stalls, summoning them by Pairs, or fingle, if the Knights of those in the oppofite Stalls were absent, and then summoned the Great Master, and after him his Royal Highness the Duke, who, with the like Ceremonies, placed themselves under their Banners.

Bath, and the provincial Kings present, making their Reverences, waited upon his Royal Highness, who carrying his white Hat in his Hand, upon his going from under the Banner, made his double Obeifances, and being thus preceded, made his double Reverences near the Rails of the Altar, and at the Rails to the Altar only, where kneeling down, he made his Offering into the Bason held by the Dean, assisted by the Prebends. And his Royal Highness repeated the same Reverences in his Return, and entered in at the lower End of the Stalls, and proceed on to his own, where he made his double Obeisances, and sat down.

Bath King at Arms being joined by the eldest Herald, did in like Manner repair to the Great Master, who carrying his white Hat in his Hand, offered in the same Manner, and returned and fat down in his Stall with the same Ceremonies.

And afterwards all the Knights in like Manner, wherein this Rule was observed, that the Knights who were in opposite Stalls, offered by Pairs together, but if any Stall was vacant, then the Knight in the oppofite Stall offered fingle; and the Heralds according to their Seniorities took and repeated their Turns in going with Bath King of Arms before the Knights.

Divine Service being ended, the Knights Companions put on their white Hats, and while the Musick played, Bath King of Arms fummoned all the Knights to come thod, and to stand under their Banners.

Which being done, the Companions then installed, singly, being respectively attended, as at the first Offering, the Eldest Companion first, were conducted to the Rails of the Altar, with the usual Obeisances, · where each 'Knight so installed, standing, unsheathed his Sword, and offered it naked to the Dean, who having redeemed it, restored the same with the following Admonition, " I exhort and admonish you, to " use your Sword to the Glory of God, the "Defence of the Gispel, the Maintenance " of your Sovereign's Right and Honour,

" and of all Equity and Justice to the ut" most of your Power." Each Knight being covered with his white Hat, were feverally reconducted back, in the Manner above-mentioned, to the Places under their feveral Banners. And then the Alms-Men forthwith joined, and in a Body making the fame Reverences as they did upon their first Entry into the Chapel, and being followed by all others performing the same Ceremonies, the Procession was made in the same Form back to the Chapter-Room; fave only, that in the Return the Knights then installed were in their full Habits and covered, and their Esquires were covered. At the Outlide of the West Door of the Abbey, the Sovereign's Matter-Cook, having a Linnen Apron and Chopping-Knise in his Hand, severally said to each of the Companions then installed, "Sir, You know what great Oath you have taken, which " if you keep it will be great Honour to " you; but if you break it, I shall be com-" pelled by my Office to hack off your Spurs " from your Heels." Dinner being ready, the Great Master being preceded by the Officers of the Order and Garrer King of Arms, came into the Court of Request and proceeded down to the lower End thereof, and entered into the Way at the farther Side of the Table, and came up to the Top of it, being followed by all the Knights in Course, according to the Height of their Stalls: Grace being faid by the Dean, they all fat down in that Order, in the fame Row upon one Side of the Table, each of the Knights then installed having an Escutcheon of his Arms fixed to the Wall over his Head: The Dean was placed next the Junior Knight, at the same Table.

down from their Stalls in the former Me Garter, and the Officers of the Order, covered with their Bonnets, at a round Table placed at the lower End of the Knights Table; the Officers of Arms at a Table in the painted Chamber; and the Prebendaries in the Jerusalem Chamber.

The Esquires having for some Time attended behind their respective Knights, had leave given them to retire to their Dinner in the Painted Chamber in their Courses, preceded by the Messenger of the Order, who dined with them.

At the second Course Bath King of Arms, Notice, That they intend to Lett by several Leases the arose, and the Musick ceasing, he made his following Lots, viz. No 1. Two Mesuages or Tenements Reverence to the eldest Knight then installed, who standing up uncovered, Bath proclaimed his Style, who then fat down, and the Style of every other Companion then installed was in like Manner respectively proclaimed.
