Petersbourg, July 29, O. S.

Yesterday the Czarina set out from Peterhoff for Crofnagurk, which is about 30 Miles from hence, where Tents are pitched for her Majesty to pass the Night in; and this Morning she is to see, from the Shore, her Fleet, commanded by Admiral Gordon, who is to exercise the Seamen in representing a Sea-Fight; after which her Majesty is to return the same Day to Peterhoff, from whence it is thought the Court will come back next Week to this City.

Warsaw, Aug. 16. Several of the Lesser Diets of Great and Little Poland are broke up without chusing Deputies to the General Diet. That of Czerko was very tumultuous, two Men were killed, and between 30 and 40 wounded. We have not yet had Accounts how they have succeeded in Lithuania or Polish Prussia.

Warsaw, Aug. 25. The King of Poland is expected in Town To-morrow, Yesterday all the General Officers and Colonels had the Honour of dining with him, and he proposed reviewing To-day the Polish Infantry Man by Man, and to chuse 100 out of each Regiment to remain here as a Guard for his Person. They are now encamped close by his Majesty's Quarters, but the Horse are at some Distance, and within a Day or two will have Orders to march to their Winter Quarters. Since the Poles in several of their Dietines have shewn great Dissatisfaction at so many Saxon Troops being here, beyond the first Number of 1200, which has been exceeded during the Camp by about 700, his Majesty is resolved to remove all Pretence of Complaint of that Nature in the approaching General Diet; therefore he has ordered all his Saxon Troops to return home, viz. two Regiments of Horse, commanded by the Prince of Saxe-Gotha, and Colonel Nassau, and a Regiment of Foot commanded by Count Frise, and they are to take different Routes, but their March will be very slow, having 36 Days allowed them from hence to the Frontiers.

Warsaw, Aug. 23. The Departure of the Saxon Troops, which are to return home, is put off for a few Days; and his Polish Majesty has told the Imperial Ambassadour, that he would send him a Letter for the Emperour, desiring leave for their free Passage through a Part of Silesia. His Majesty came to Town the 21st, after having chosen about 300 Men to remain here for his Guard, out of the Polish Regiments.

Seville, Aug. 19. The Count de Montemar, who commanded in Chief the Spanish Forces employed in the Conquest of Oran, returned hither the 13th Instant, and had Audience the next Day of their Catholick Majesties, who received him very graciously. A strong Garrison has been put into that Place, and the rest of the Troops are sent home in three Divisions, one of which landed at Alicante the 5th Instant, another at Malaga the 7th, and there is no Doubt but the third Division, which was sent back to Barcelona, is arrived there before this Time. By our last Advices from Ceuta, a Body of about 5000 Moors was encamped at a small Distance from that Place.

Mr. Keene, his Britannick Majesty's Minister Plenipotentiary at this Court, having complained of some Difficulties which the Garrison of Gibraltar met with in being supplied with Provisions from the neighbouring Coasts of Spain, his Catholick Majesty has thereupon been pleased to give the following Order to the Governours of the Coasts of Andalusia, Granada and Murcia.

“ It being the King's Pleasure that the “ Town of Gibraltar be allowed to import “ whatever Victuals and Provisions may be “ wanted for the Garrison, provided it be “ done
