Whitehall, April 2.

THE following Address has been presented to his Majesty by the Right Honourable Sir Robert Walpole, in the Absence of the Right Honourable Lord Walpole, Lord Lieutenant of the County of Devon, and of the City of Exeter and County of the same. Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of Exon.

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, beg Leave to congratulate your Majesty upon the Marriage of his Royal Highness the Prince of Orange with the Princess Royal.

A Prince of that House, from whence many and great Blessings have been diffused through these Kingdoms.

A Prince, whose Abilities preface a Greatness equal to his glorious Ancestors; whose happy Union with the Royal Princess fills us with the greatest Joy and Satisfaction, and enlargeth our glorious Prospect of Protestant Heirs to the Crown of these Realms.

This is an additional Proof of your Majesty's Care and Concern for the Good and Welfare of your People, and sufficiently shews, that you are not contented with the immediate governing and protecting us in our Rights, Privileges, and Immunities, both Civil and Religious, but carefully providing for the same to Posterity, by increasing and securing the Succession settled in your Majesty's Protestant Royal Family; a Blessing which must make the Memory of the late King William glorious to this Nation till Time shall be no more.

May your Majesty continue to rule in the Hearts and Love of your People; and may your Reign be long and prosperous; and may there never be wanting one of your Royal Protestant Line to fill the Throne of these Realms, is the hearty Prayer of,

May it please your Majesty,

Your Majesty's most dutiful and ever faithful Subjects.

The following Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of the City of Rochester, has been presented to his Majesty. Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of the City of Rochester, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE the Mayor, Aldermen, and Assistants of your ancient and loyal City of Rochester, in Common Council assembled, having a just Sense of the many and great Blessings, which by your paternal Care, under the Divine Providence, redound to us and the whole Nation; and more especially of those, which we trust will ensue from the present Alliance of your Royal Family with the illustrious House of Nassau; desire to approach, in the humblest Manner, your Sacred Person, to tender our most sincere Congratulations on this happy Occasion.

The Presence of a Prince of Orange among us, in whom all the Virtues of his great Predecessors are so eminently conspicuous, revives the Memory of those great Obligations we owe to a Branch of that Family, and renews our just Esteem and Veneration for it.

To that Prince, in a good Measure, we owe the Felicities of your Majesty's Reign; we owe the present Enjoyment of our civil and religious Rights, the Sanction of our ancient and excellent Constitution, the Confirmation of our undoubted Liberties, and that we can now pay to your Majesty the reasonable
