Whitehall, November 22.

An Account has been received by a Letter from Mr. Mann, who has the Care of his Majesty's Affairs at the Court of Florence, dated the 16th Instant, N. S. That he having acquainted Mr. Richcourt, the Great Duke's Minister, with the Advices that had been received of many Commissions being sent from Spain for fitting out Privateers to cruize upon his Majesty's Subjects, that Minister had shew'd him a Letter from the Great Duke, wherein his Highness orders him to be particularly careful that none of his Subjects presume, under the severest Penalties, to meddle in such Affairs. Mr. Mann further adds, that in Consequence of the Application which he made to M. Richcourt, at the Time the Spanish Minister at Florence received those Commissions from Spain, M. Richcourt dispatch'd an Estaffette to M. Braitwitz, then at Leghorn, with Orders to declare publicly there the Great Duke's Pleasure herein; which was accordingly done to some Persons that were supposed to be provided with Patents from the Spanish Consul, and engaged in fitting out a Privateer, who were told, if they did not immediately desist, they, with their Families, would be banish'd, and their Goods confiscated; which entirely put an End to those Proceedings.

Whitehall, Nov. 22.

Mr. Jackson, his Majesty's Consul at Genoa, having by the King's Order acquainted the Ministers of that Republick with the Advices that had been received, that Commissions had been sent from Spain to Genoa for fitting out Privateers to cruize upon his Majesty's Subjects; and having desired that an Order might be published, prohibiting the Genoese Subjects from taking or making Use of any Commissions of that Nature; the following Order was accordingly printed and published at Genoa on the 18th Instant, N. S. The Doge, the Governours and Procurators of the most Serene Republick of Genoa.

WHEREAS it concerns us to secure the Commerce of our People, and to contribute to the Freedom of Traffick in General, by preventing by all possible Means all the Insults, and other Inconveniencies, which may arise from fitting out Privateers against Christian Nations.

1702, and renewed the 30th of October 1733, That all our Citizens, Countrymen, and Subjects, and all other Persons whatsoever in our Dominions, and under our Jurisdiction, as well those of the Terra Firma, as of the Kingdom of Corsica, and of the Island of Capraia, do abstain from fitting out Privateers, and from navigating Vessels though belonging to Foreigners, fitted out as above, and from having any Interest, Share, or Pay in such Vessels, or any Imbarcation whatsoever, or in the Service of any Prince on board of Ships of War, and in any Manner furnish'd for Privateering, without our express Licence; under all Penalties, as well pecuniary, as corporal, and any other more grievous, inflicted by the Laws upon the Crime of Piracy and Robbery at Sea, and such like, and depending thereon, and arising therefrom.

Foreigners incur the same Penalties, who shall hire Men, or shall fit out Vessels to the same Purpose, in the Ports of our Dominions.

And all this, besides the Penalties already laid, and which may happen to be incurred by virtue of any Law, or of other preceeding Orders.

Given at Genoa in our Royal Palace this 17th Day of November, 1739.
