Rome, May 21. There is yet no Prospect of a speedy Conclusion of the Conclave for the Election of a new Pope. The Albani and Corsini Factions still endeavour to carry their different Designs: the German Cardinals are now on the Side of the former: But the French and Spanish Cardinals appear to be neutral; designing 'tis supposed to reserve their casting Votes in Favour of a Person acceptable to their Courts.

Florence, May 29. They write from Leghorn, that on the 26th Instant came into that Port his Britannick Majesty's Ship the Kennington, Capt. Robinson, Commander, last from Naples. On the 24th the Primate of Lorrain and the Prince de Beaveau, Sons to the Prince Craon, returned hither from Rome, as did on the 27th the Prince and Princess Craon.

Berlin, June 7, N. S. On Sunday last his Prussian Majesty came hither from Charlottenberg, and after having assisted at Divine Service, dined in Publick for the first Time since the King his Father's Death. In the Afternoon his Prussian Majesty went back to Charlottenbourg, and this Morning he set out for Reinsberg, the Place of his usual Residence when he was Prince Royal. The late King having expressly forbid the being embalmed after his Death, the Corpse was privately carried on Saturday last to a Vault which he had caused to be made during his Life, in one of the Churches at Potzdam. The Funeral will be performed as soon as every thing can be got ready for that Ceremony, which 'tis said will be very magnificent.
