Petersbourg, January 16.

WE have an Account of the Death of the greatest Part of the Swedish Prisoners on the Road to Moscow.

All the Senators, the Generality, and the Synod, were assembled the 14th, to the Number of 35 Persons, to assist at the Report of the Trial of the Prisoners, and to pronounce Judgment on them; and as the Czarina came very late to the Drawing Room that Evening, it is not doubted but their Sentence was laid before her Majesty. The Felt Marshal Lacy is out of Danger, but has not recovered his Strength.

Petersbourg, Jan. 19. Count Osterman, the Felt Marshal Munich, Count Golofkin, President Mengden, the Grand Marshal, Count Löwenwolde, and a Secretary, were Yesterday brought from the Citadel to the Place before the Colleges, where a Scaffold was erected, upon which, about Ten of the Clock, Count Osterman was carried in a Chair, when the Enumeration of the Crimes laid to his Charge, containing five Sheets of Paper, was read to him by a Secretary, his Excellency all that time bare headed, and with an attentive but firm Countenance listening to it; at last his Sentence was pronounced, which was to be broke on the Wheel; however no Preparations for so terrible an Execution were there, instead of them there were two Blocks with Axes by them, and he was immediately drawn forward out of his Chair by the Soldiers, and his Head laid on one of the Blocks, when the Executioner approached and unbutton'd the Collar of his Shirt and Night-Gown he had on, and laid bare his Neck; this Ceremony took up about a Minute, when it was declared to him that his capital Punishment was, by her Majesty, changed into a perpetual Banishment, upon this he was lifted up by the Soldiers and replaced on his Chair, and went thro' the whole without any Change of Countenance. The Sentences of the other Five, who stood below round the Scaffold, were afterwards read to them in the Order before-mentioned; that of the Felt Marshal was to be quarter'd; of the other four to be beheaded, but the Change into Banishment was as soon declared to each; the four had all long Beards, but the Felt Marshal was shaved, well dress'd, and with an erect, intrepid, and unconcern'd a Countenance, as if he had been at the Head of an Army. It is said, that Count Osterman set out last Night, and the others will soon follow, if not gone. He is to be transported to Borefowa; the Felt Marshal Munich to Pelim in Siberia: Cnez Menzikoff was formerly at the first Place, and the late Duke of Courland is actually at the last; the others are to be carried to different Places, where the two Brothers Carl and Gustave Biron, and General Bismarc were, so that the Biron Family will be removed, but to what Place is uncertain. All their Estates real and personal are confiscated. Those of their Wives however are not subject to Confiscation, by an Ordonnance of Peter the First, and they are allow'd, by her Majesty, to follow their Husbands if they please. Young Count Munich is to be sent to one of his Father's Estates in the Ukraine, (his own in Livonia being confiscated) after having engaged by Oath and in Writing that he will not go out of the Country. His Order of the White Eagle, as well as his Father's, and that of President Mengden have been delivered to the Saxon Secretary to be return'd to the King of Poland, but it is said, that Count Löwenwolde's Order of the Black Eagle has not been yet sent to M. Mardefeldt. Yesterday Morning between Eight and Nine, her Majesty went to Czarskoi Meuse, from whence she will return To-morrow. The late Senator Strefchnoff, Countess Osterman's Brother, has been made Waywode of the District where all the unfortunate Exiles are to remain, and he is to have the Care and Inspection of them. The Commissary of War Lapokin, who was under Arrest ever since the Change, has been made Governor of Archangel, and M. Nepluef of Samara on the Wolga. It is just now said, that Count and Countess Osterman set out this Morning about Two, both their Sons, who were Captains of the Guards, are to have Companies in matching Regiments, and her Majesty has promised to provide a Match for the Daughter: They were all three allow'd to take Leave of their Father. Prince Lewis is still here.

Vienna, Jan. 27, N. S. Konigseck's and Daun's Regiments of Foot, with 14 Companies of Tyrolians, and as many Waradiners, and People of the Neighbourhood of Carlstadt as with the others amount to the Number of 14,000 in all, are supposed to be entered by Kufftain into Bavaria. Brunau is summoned, and the Austrians are already Masters of the Town of Passau. The Garrison, to the Number of 1200 Men, is said to be retired into the Castle.

Vienna, Jan. 31, N. S. Marshal Khevenhuller is at Passau with the best Part of the Cavalry, while the rest of the Army is marched by Wels towards Brunau. The 14,000 Men entered into Bavaria by Kufftain, will come down the Inntz while the others proceed up that River, so that they will meet; it is supposed, at or about Burkhausen, from whence there is but a small Cut to Munich. When upon the Isser, the Austrians
