Leghorn, Aug. 19.

THe Gallies of this State came the tenth instant into Porto Ferraro, having with them several Prizes and in them 114 Slaves; They are since gone out again from thence, in search of the three Turkish Gallies that lately appeared on this Coast. From Genoua we hear, that that Senate hath finally resolved to send Signior Durazzo, in quality of their Envoy to the most Christian King.

Warsaw Aug. 19. The Kings journey towards the Frontiers of Russia, in order to his being present at the Rendezvous of the Army, is still deferred from time to time, and now is fixed for the 26 of this month; Yesterday were taken out of the Arsenal here, eight pieces of Cannon to be sent to the Army, where they intend, as is said, to have a Train of Artillery of 53 Pieces. From the Frontiers they write, that the Turks at Caminiec begin to be in great fear of our Troops, for that they have but a weak Garrison at present there, and not any prospect of succors from the Port; and the Tartars are at present so well-employed in defending themselves against the Muscovites and Cossacks, that we have not much to apprehend from them; so that many People are desirous we should lay hold of this occasion, to recover what we lost the last year, though our Governors seem not very forward to enter themselves into a War.

Egra, Aug. 26. The 18 instant, as we formerly told you, his Imperial Majesty arrived here, and the 20 the Elector of Saxony with the young Prince his Son, and Prince Murits his Brother, his Imperial Majesty having been about half a mile out of Town, to receive his Electoral Highness; The 22 was the general Muster of the Army which was composed of 22500 Foot, and 14000 Horse; and yesterday they broke up from hence, and took their march towards Nuremberg in the Upper Palatinate; and this day his Imperial Majesty is gone hence for Prague; and the Elector of Saxony on his return to Dresden.

Nuremberg, Sept. 1. The Imperial Army about 36000 Men strong, having broke up from Egra the 25 past, and taken their march through the Upper Palatinate, are come to lodge within two Leagues of this place having their principal quarter at Lauffen; the Army for their better convenience march in three Bodies, and intend to continue their way towards Rottenbourg on the Tauber, and Heilbronn, in the Duchy of Wurtemberg, and so forward. General Spork has the Vanguard of the Army, and as we are told, has Orders to secure himself of some considerable Passes on the Main; In the interim, the French Army, under the Command of Monsieur de Turenne, advances daily up higher in the Empire to meet the Imperialists, so that we may suddenly expect to hear of some action.

Cologne, Sept. 1. The Mediators having been some weeks since made acquainted with the lowest conditions of the two Kings, by their Plenipotentiaries here, and having sufficiently signified the same to the Dutch Ambassadors, so far, as to declare to them very solemnly, that if they would not comply with those conditions, which were so just and easy, They the Mediators must justify to the world the proceedings of the two Kings in order to a Peace, and declare the States to be the cause of the continuance of the War, and of all the consequences that may attend it; notwithstanding which pressing instances of the Mediators, frequently repeated to the Dutch Ambassadors, they continue in the same obstinacy as formerly. Eight or nine Regiments of the Elector of Cologne Troops, under the Command of Monsieur Lansbergh, have joyned Monsieur de Turenne Army, who has passed great part of his Artillery over the Main to Nahen, while he with the gross of his Army intends to march towards Tauber. The Elector of Bavaria Army lies, as we hear, between Nuremberg and Ratisbonne. Yesterday the Mediators entertained all the Ambassadors and Persons of the chiefest quality here at a Ball, and a very noble Supper.

Stras, Sept. 5. From Francfort of the fourth instant they write, that Monsieur de Turenne was broken up with his Army from his Quarters on the Main, having first possessed himself of Fridbergh and Achafsenbourg, and Marched towards Witzbourg and Rottenbourg, to meet the Imperialists, who are coming down that way. According to our advices from the French Court we have advice, That his most Christian Majesty having parted the 24 past from Nancy, lodged that night at Lunecville, the 25 at Raon, the 26 at St. Dey, the 27 at Markirke, the 28 at Ribauvillers and the next day intended to be at Brissack; that the Towns of Colmar and Schlestat in Alsacia, had received French Garrisons into them, being very considerable places for the security of his Majesties affairs in this conjuncture. On Friday night last, the Magistrates of this place received news of the taking of Treves by the French, though our Letters arrived since from Coblentz contradict it again. The same day in the afternoon was held a Conference at the Carmes, and yesterday was held another, though, we do not learn what hath passed, farther then that the Ambassadors of England and France observing the delays the Dutch use, and their aversion speedily to conclude a peace, have set them a day to give in a final Answer to the Propositions made to them.

Paris, Sept. 2. Our last Letters from the Court advise us, of their Majesties arrival with the whole Court at Brissack; That it was once said, that his Majesty intended to advance farther up into the Empire, but at the coming away of these Letters, the discourse at Court was, that his Majesty would in eight days be back at Nancy.

Brussels, Sept. 9. Our Governor the Count de Montecrey has been to visit the Fortifications at Vilvorde, which are said to be almost finished. Our Letters from Germany assure us, that the Imperial Army had passed through the Upper Palatinate, and took their way with large Marches towards Franconia, with intentions as is given out, to Fight the French, under the Command of Monsieur de Turenne, which if so, we may every day expect to hear of a Battle, seeing the French Army advances likewise to meet them. Here hath been this day a report in Town, that Treves was taken by the Marquis de Rocheport, and the Forces under his Command, but we cannot hear that it comes with any certainty. From the French Conquests in Flanders, they
