

The following Address of the High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Grand Jury, Clergy, and other the Protestant Inhabitants of the County of Longford in the Kingdom of Ireland, having been transmitted by his Excellency the Earl of Chesterfield, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, to his Grace the Duke of Newcastle, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has by him been presented to his Majesty: Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Grand Jury, Clergy and other the Protestant Inhabitants of the County of Longford, in your Majesty's Kingdom of Ireland, at a General Sessions of the Peace held at Longford the 8th Day of October, 1745.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Grand Jury, Clergy, and other the Protestant Inhabitants of the County of Longford, do humbly beg Leave to give your Majesty, in these Times of Danger, the strongest Assurances of our Duty and Affection.

We have lived, under your Majesty's just and mild Government, in the full Enjoyment of our Religious and Civil Rights, and, under God, our Hopes are placed on your Majesty and your Royal Line, of having those invaluable Blessings continued to us and our Posterity. We cannot therefore but have a just Abhorrence of the present most unnatural Rebellion enter'd into against your Majesty, by a popish Pretender and his wicked Adherents in North Britain.

Our Happiness then being so interwoven with the Prosperity of your Majesty's Government, we behold their Designs with Indignation; and are determin'd to oppose them with our Lives and Fortunes; and as our Cause is just, righteous, and dear to us, so our Endeavours to support it shall be hearty, vigorous and sincere.

We cannot omit, at this Time, to return your Majesty our humble Thanks for sending over to us from your Councils of England, his Excellency the Earl of Chesterfield, to conduct the Affairs of this Kingdom, in this critical Conjunction, whose distinguished Abilities, and wise Administration, will at this Time not only diminish our Apprehensions, but also add to our Hopes of Security; and by that Means must give great Pleasure and Satisfaction to all those, who are Well-wishers to the true Interest and Prosperity of this Kingdom.

The following Address of the Governor, High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Gentlemen of the Grand Jury and Freeholders of the County of Fermanagh, having been transmitted by his Excellency the Earl of Chesterfield, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, to his Grace the Duke of Newcastle, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has by him been presented to his Majesty: Which Address his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

The humble Address of the Governor, High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Gentlemen of the Grand Jury, and Freeholders of the County of Fermanagh, assembled at a General Sessions held at Enniskilling the 10th Day of October 1745.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Governor, High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Gentlemen of the Grand Jury, and Freeholders of the County of Fermanagh, think it our indispensable Duty to lay hold of this Opportunity of expressing our just Resentment and Indignation at the horrid Insurrection of some of your Majesty's ungrateful Subjects, and the insolent Attempts of your Enemies in Support of a popish and abjur'd Pretender.

A Design so manifestly calculated to deprive us of all that is valuable to ourselves, and all that is worth transmitting to our Posterity, must necessarily incite us your faithful Subjects to the greater Zeal for your Majesty's Service, and Support of your Government, upon which our Prospect of Peace and Prosperity does depend.

As the Inhabitants of this Country appear'd early, and acted vigorously in Favour of our Great Deliverer King William, of glorious and immortal Memory, and have ever stedfastly adhered to our happy Constitution in Church and State, and to the Succession in your illustrious House, Permit us, Great Sir, deeply sensible of the Happiness we enjoy under the best of Governments, administer'd by the best of Kings, and of the inestimable Value of those Blessings, to assure your Majesty of our unshaken Resolution to preserve them, and to promote the publick Felicity, by using our Arms to destroy this popish Invader and his Adherents, and our best and unwearied Endeavours to render your Majesty's Reign as easy and glorious to yourself, as it is happy and advantageous to your People.

The following Address of the Governor, Deputy Governors, High Sheriff, Justices of the Peace, Clergy, Gentlemen and Freeholders of the County of Armagh, having been transmitted by his Excellency the Earl of Chesterfield, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, to his Grace
