Whitehall, March 4.

By an Express with Letters from his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, of the 25th past from Montrose, there are the following Advices:

They write from Aberdeen of the 23d Instant, that on Friday the 21st, a Ship of about 150 Tons Burthen, with French Colours, came into that Road about Six at Night, and fired two or three Guns; upon which the Rebels sent off a Boat to her, which returned about Eight, and brought ashore two Officers, who, after some Consultation, went on Board again, and carried seven or eight Boats, with an Intention, as it was thought, to land their Men; but they return'd empty, and the Ship went off, as is said, for Peterhead, and some People went from Aberdeen to meet them there: It is said the said Ship had Money, Arms, Cannon and Ammunition on Board, but it seems was not to deliver the Money, but by some particular Order of one Boyer, whom they call a French Ambassador, and who is with the Pretender's Son.

That upon Saturday the 22d, about Five of the Clock in the Afternoon, another Ship came about from Stonehaven, of about 100 Tons Burthen, of no Force, and anchor'd in the Road of Aberdeen, and between Eight and Ten at Night landed about 130 Men, including five Officers. They were cloathed with Red turned up with Blue: They also landed a Parcel of Saddles, and some Horse Furniture, and some other Horsemens Arms and Breast Plates; many of them are English and Irish. They carried nine or ten Cart and twenty Pack Loads of Baggage with them. Upon Sunday the 23d they marched from Aberdeen, as did all the Rebels that were then there, partly by Old Meldrum, which is twelve Miles distant, and partly by Newburgh, which is the Road to Peterhead. Those that marched from Aberdeen last, were commanded by Moir of Stonywood, being about 100, including Parties they were to get in, and about 50 Horse, whom they call Hussars, under one Colonel Baggot a Frenchman. Those who landed from the French Ship report, that there sailed five Ships in all from Dunkirk, and that the other three Ships were larger, and contained more Men, and could not be far from the Scotch Coast.

Lord George Murray, with those under his Command, is said to have marched from Elgin on Tuesday and Wednesday the 18th and 19th Instant. Lord Ogilvy's Men, and some others, being about 450, marched from Aberdeen on Tuesday the 18th; and on Monday the 17th the Men from Cromar and Braemar, said to be about 250, marched from Cromar. The Strath Boggie Foot marched also by Clat to Strath Boggie the Highway; the Number of them are not certainly known, but said to be about 250.

They

They were also raising some Men last Week in Buchan in Bamffshire, in their Way North.

Advices from the more Northern Parts mention, that on Sunday the 16th, the main Body of the Rebels were within 14 Miles of Inverness, but had then an advanced Party the Length of the Water of Nairn, four Miles South of Inverness, where Lord Loudoun's advanced Party from Inverness met them, and a small Skirmish happen'd, but of no Consequence: That on Monday Lord Loudoun's People retired to Inverness, and that Day the Rebels advanced within two Miles of that Town; and that thereupon Lord Loudoun finding he was not able to defend the Town, crossed the Bridge on Tuesday, and, by the Ferry of Kesslocks, got over to the Shire of Ross, and that very Day the Rebels got Possession of the Town of Inverness: However, a proper Supply of Men was put into the Castle, and Major Grant the Governor was determined to hold out as long as possible: That those Rebels, which went by Aberdeen, all crossed the Spey upon Thursday last, except Lord Ogilvy and his Men, who were that Night at a Village called Keith, within six Miles of Spey, and are supposed to be by this Time at Inverness; and that they had published an Order, declaring it Death to any who should convey Letters to, or correspond with the Friends of. the Government.

Further Accounts from the Neighbourhood of Inverness say, that the Rebels were attempting to form a Blockade from the Town of Inverness, in order to mount their Cannon upon Thursday last, and that the Garrison were firing very briskly upon them. It is added, that the Lord President's House had been plundered.

Upon these Advices, and the Possibility that the Rebels might attempt to slip again into the Low Lands, as also the different Accounts received of Troops coming from France, of which one Transport is actually disembarked, and five of them in all are expected, his Royal Highness the Duke has countermanded the Re-embarkation of the Hessians, and has ordered the Transports to proceed immediately to Shields, to take on board the Dutch Troops, and to sail with a sufficient Convoy to Willemstadt, and after having landed the said Troops, to return to Leith. His Royal Highness has also wrote to Prince Frederick of Hesse to march immediately four Battalions to Perth, and two to Stirling: St. George's Dragoons will be cantoned at Earn Bridge; and the two Remains of Naizon's and Hamilton's Dragoons will be cantoned at Bannock Burn near Stirling. With this Cavalry, which will be left under the Command of the Earl of Craufurd, the Prince of Hesse will have a sufficient Corps to deal with the Rebels, should they either attempt to avoid the Duke of Cumberland, by going South, or to attack the Posts at Blair, Castle Menzie, &c. and Bligh's Battalion are to hold themselves in Readiness to march. His Royal Highness the Duke proposes to be at Aberdeen the Day after To-morrow; and upon Advice of the Arrival of the French Ships on this Coast, dispatched on Sunday the Hound Sloop, which was in this Port, Northward, in Quest of them, with Orders to go to Aberdeen and Peterhead, and further North, if by any Intelligence there should be Encouragement to come up with any of them; and the Gloucester appearing off this Harbour Yesterday, the like Orders were sent to the Captain of her.

Other Accounts from Aberdeen make the main Body of the Rebels, which marched for Inverness, amount to 4000 Men or more.
