By an Express with Letters from his Royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland, of the 25th past from Montrose, there are the following Advices:

They write from Aberdeen of the 23d Instant, that on Friday the 21st, a Ship of about 150 Tons Burthen, with French Colours, came into that Road about Six at Night, and fired two or three Guns; upon which the Rebels sent off a Boat to her, which returned about Eight, and brought ashore two Officers, who, after some Consultation, went on Board again, and carried seven or eight Boats, with an Intention, as it was thought, to land their Men; but they return'd empty, and the Ship went off, as is said, for Peterhead, and some People went from Aberdeen to meet them there: It is said the said Ship had Money, Arms, Cannon and Ammunition on Board, but it seems was not to deliver the Money, but by some particular Order of one Boyer, whom they call a French Ambassador, and who is with the Pretender's Son.

That upon Saturday the 22d, about Five of the Clock in the Afternoon, another Ship came about from Stonehaven, of about 100 Tons Burthen, of no Force, and anchor'd in the Road of Aberdeen, and between Eight and Ten at Night landed about 130 Men, including five Officers. They were cloathed with Red turned up with Blue: They also landed a Parcel of Saddles, and some Horse Furniture, and some other Horsemens Arms and Breast Plates; many of them are English and Irish. They carried nine or ten Cart and twenty Pack Loads of Baggage with them. Upon Sunday the 23d they marched from Aberdeen, as did all the Rebels that were then there, partly by Old Meldrum, which is twelve Miles distant, and partly by Newburgh, which is the Road to Peterhead. Those that marched from Aberdeen last, were commanded by Moir of Stonywood, being about 100, including Parties they were to get in, and about 50 Horse, whom they call Hussars, under one Colonel Baggot a Frenchman. Those who landed from the French Ship report, that there sailed five Ships in all from Dunkirk, and that the other three Ships were larger, and contained more Men, and could not be far from the Scotch Coast.

Lord George Murray, with those under his Command, is said to have marched from Elgin on Tuesday and Wednesday the 18th and 19th Instant. Lord Ogilvy's Men, and some others, being about 450, marched from Aberdeen on Tuesday the 18th; and on Monday the 17th the Men from Cromar and Braemar, said to be about 250, marched from Cromar. The Strath Boggie Foot marched also by Clat to Strath Boggie the Highway; the Number of them are not certainly known, but said to be about 250.
