

May the Almighty preserve your Majesty's precious Life, for the general Good of Mankind; direct your Councils, and confound the Devices of your Enemies; And may there never be wanting one of your Royal Blood, formed upon your Majesty's Example, to sway the British Sceptre, or one to command the British Armies, in Valour and Conduct equal to the glorious Instrument of the late signal Victory.

In Council at Philadelphia, the 4th Day of August 1746.

Richard Peters, Secretary.

Naples, Sept. 6, N.S. In the Evening of the 3d Instant, by Orders from Court, an Embargo was laid on all Vessels actually in the Ports of the Kingdom, and upon those that shall arrive, in order to compleat the Number of 120, which are to be employed in transporting the King's Troops from the Coast of Genoa to this City.

Venice, Sept. 16, N.S. The Letters from Genoa mention an Action between the Piemontese and the French near Final, but were uncertain which had the Advantage. This is supposed to be an Attack of their Rear Guard under M. Mirepoix, who remained with 12 Battalions to cover the Retreat of their Army. The British Squadron, Part of which was at Savona, and Part near Ventimiglia, have incommoded the French very much in their March, and obliged them to leave the Road along the Riviera, and to march through a very difficult Way over the Mountains. Don Philip and the Duke of Modena are supposed to be at Nice, where a Palace was ordered to be prepared for their Reception. Six thousand Warasins of the last Reinforcements are already arrived at Mantua, and will be soon followed by 6000 more, two Regiments of Horse, and two of Infantry, who are marching with all Diligence through the Tirol. The Imperialists are, by the Ammunitions and Provisions of all Sorts found in the State of Genoa, and by the Contributions levying, as well as by the Numbers of Recruits, and of Deserters, who are returned to their Colours, in the best Condition that can be well imagined.

Fort William, September 21. There is an Account from the Braes of Locharkieg, that last Thursday, about Twelve o'Clock, the Pretender's Son embarked on board a French Ship of War in the same Loch in Moydart where he first landed, attended by the following Persons, viz. Macpherson of Clunie, with others of his Clan; Cameron of Lochiel, Dr. Cameron his Brother, Ludovick Cameron of Torr Castle, Allan Cameron, and Macdonald of Lochgary, with many others, whose Names were not known. Macdonald of Barrisdale was said to have gone on board before the Pretender's Son got to the Ships.

Kensington, September 30.

As had afterwards Count Czernichew, his first private Audience of his Majesty, to deliver his Letters of Credence, as Minister Plenipo-tentiary' from the Czarina. They were both introduc'd by the Right Honourable the Earl of Harrington, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and conducted by Sir Clement Cottrel Dormer, Knt. Master of the Ceremonies.
