Messina, February 1.

Monday last, the 30th past, return'd back into Port the Loyal Elizabeth, a small English Ship, Capt. Henry Gannet, who, in Company of the Levant, Capt. Elias Hampton, both bound for Smyrna, failed from hence on the 20th in the Morning with a fair Wind, which carried them to about 30 Leagues distant from Cape Spartovento, where, on the 23d, the Levant sprung a Leak, and soon went to the Bottom, but the Captain and Crew were saved by the Elizabeth.

Turin, Feb. 18, N. S. We have nothing new from the Borders of the Var, on which the West Part of the French, as well as of our Army, continues encamp'd. By all Accounts the Enemy suffer greatly from the Want of Subsistances, and must soon withdraw farther into Provence. They have been no less than four or five Days without Bread, and particularly the Column that march'd by the Mountains, is represented as quite ruined and reduced. Three Imperial Regiments of Foot are in full March towards Genoa, whither it is assured the Enemy are preparing to send Officers, Engineers, and a Body of Troops by Sea. All the Imperial Cavalry is got into Piemont, and some of their Generals daily pass through this Town in their Way to Novi. General O Donnel, amongst the rest, arrived on the 16th at Night, and set out the next Day for Vienna, whither he is dispatched by Count

Brown. Letters from Villa Franca mention, that the Islands of St. Honorée and St. Marguerite are garrisoned with between 4 and 500 Austrian Troops, who are provided with two Months Provisions, and a proper Quantity of military Stores, and some small English Vessels are stationed to prevent the Enemy's making an Attempt to retake them, and to assist the Garrison; and that the Feversham Man of War lately met with and took a Spanish Settee, having on board 93 Spanish Officers and Soldiers, which had been some Time on the Passage from Ceuta to Naples; the Officers and Soldiers are sent Prisoners to Minorca.

Venice, Feb. 22, N. S. Captain Read, Commander of the Constantine, a Merchant Ship from Bristol, lately come into this Port, took the 5th of January, near Minorca, the Esperance, a French Ship bound from Marseilles to Constantinople, laden with Cloth, Sugar and Coffee.

Hague, March 10, N. S. We are informed, that a Fregate belonging to a Convoy of 102 Sail of French Ships, which parted from Martinico on the 8th of January, N. S. escorted by two Men of War, and two East-India Men, was arrived at Port Louis, having been separated from them by a hard Gale of Wind near the Azores. According to the Accounts from Bourdeaux and Nantz, there were but 40 of this Convoy arrived, and no News of the rest. Letters from Paris bring Advice, That M. du Bois de la Motte, Commander of the Étoile, escorting the St. Domingo Fleet from Martinico thither, had been met about the Beginning of January last by four British Men of War, with two of which some Shot had been exchanged; but that the Etoile had outfailed them. That the Convoy had been dispersed upon this Occasion, and that only eight of them had got into Port, when the Advices came from thence; five having been driven on shore, and taken by some Privateers. M. du Bois was himself got into Cape Tiberon after a Passage of 63 Days; but ten British Ships were waiting under Le Mone de St. Nicolas, to intercept the Convoy homeward bound.

She is called the Tyger, of 26 Guns, belonging to St. Malo, and has 220 Men on board.

Erratum. In the Gazette of Saturday the 17th of January last, Page 2. Col. 1. for the Sheriff of Denby, instead of Robert Williams, of Pwilly, Esq; read Robert Williams, of Pwilly Crochon, Esq;.

The Honourable House of Commons having encouraged Mr. Thomas Lowndes to shew how to improve and meliorate the Brine-Salt of this Kingdom; he therefore thinks it his Duty, to acquaint such Persons interested in Brine-Salt, as may not like to comply strictly with his printed Method or Process, that (after the Pans are purged, and the Fresh is duly diminished) if they boil with much gentler Fires, they will save themselves a good deal of Expence in Fuel, and supply the Publick with incomparably better Salt: For the finest and most subtle Spirit of the Brine evaporates by too long a Continuance of intense Heat, and the natural Grain of the Salt is thereby also quite destroy'd.

It is likewise apprehended, that this Intimation will be very serviceable in making Salt from Sea-Water.

Whitehall, February 24, 1746-7.

It having been represented to His Majesty, that John Simkins, Henry Francombe, William Smart, and Harman Seagar, all of Chippenham, in the County of Wilts, were, on the Second of this Instant February, in a Barn, near the Road on the Top of Kingsdown Hill, in the Parish of Box, in the said County, assaulted, beaten, and abused, in a most cruel Manner, by Seven or Eight Men in Disguise; and that Harman Seagar soon after died of the Wounds he then received: His Majesty, for the better discovering and bringing to Justice the Persons concerned in committing the said Murder, is graciously pleased to promise his Pardon to any one of them, who shall discover his Accomplice or Accomplices, so as they, or any of them, may be apprehended and convicted thereof. And as a further Encouragement for making such Discovery as aforesaid, his Majesty is pleased to promise a Reward of One Hundred Pounds, to be paid on the Conviction of any one or more of the Offenders.
