Tetuan, August 3, O. S.

THE Report of the Plague's being in this Country is entirely without Foundation; there having been no other Sickness here for some Time past than what is common at this Time of the Year by the People's eating too much Fruit, without the Assistance of either Bread or Meat to support Nature, occasioned by the Dearness thereof, so that a Famine is the Calamity that threatens them most, if not supported by Christian Powers; but both the People here, and at Fez, enjoy at present perfect Health. One of our Gallies is returned into Port, and has brought with her a French Tartan laden with Barley, which she took two Days ago off Malaga; and the Boats at Tangiers have also brought in a Ship with Corn.

Lisbon, Aug. 28. As soon as the nine Days close Retirement at Court were over, on Account of the late King's Death, Notice was given to the Nobility and Foreign Ministers, that they might come and pay their Compliments of Condolence to the new King, which Ceremony was performed with great Order and Decency. The Time of his Majesty's Reces was chiefly taken up in examining the Situation of his Finances, and the interior Affairs of his Kingdom. Great Preparations are actually making in the large Square before the Palace, where a vast Theatre is erecting for the Swearing in of the new King, according to the antient Custom observed here, and to receive at the same Time the Homage of the Nobility, Clergy and Ministers of the several Tribunals of this Place. The Day is not fixed as yet, but if every Thing can be got ready, it will be performed on the 7th of September, being the Queen Dowager's Birth-Day.

Naples, Aug. 28. Two Brothers, whose Names are Ricci, and a Companion of theirs, were secured near Capoa on the 15th and 16th Instant, by a Detachment of Soldiers of that Garrison, as they were escaping into the Ecclesiastical State. These three Persons were the Ring-leaders of that great Number of Banditti which occasioned all the late Troubles in the Province of Terra di Lavoro, upwards of 40 of whom are now in Prison, and the rest entirely dispersed.

Rome, Aug. 29. The King of Sardinia has presented M. Merlini, the Pope's Nuncio at his Court, with a Pension of 1000 Crowns a Year, and 6000 Livres for the Expences of his Journey to Forli, his Native Country. Last Week the Funeral Obsequies were performed for three Days successively, at the Portuguese Church of St. Anthony, for the Death of the late King of Portugal. The Pope, it is said, designs soon to make a Promotion of four Cardinals; and it is reported, that the Cardinal de Bourbon, Infant of Spain, is determined to renounce the Cardinal Hat, designing to marry. M. Gusman, the new Portuguese Minister to the Pope, who is shortly expected here from London, amongst other Dispositions, has sent Orders to his Agent here, to hire the same Palace at the Pillotta, which the late M. Sampario, his Predecessor, occupied. On the 25th Instant arrived in this City from Civita Vecchia, where they were landed from France, a Train of fine Coaches for the Publick Entry of the Duke de Nivernois, the French Ambassador to the Pope: These Coaches are made at the Expence of the French King, and are to remain at Rome for the Use of the French Ambassadors.

some Time ago been deprived by the Regency of the Administration of his Estate, which was given to the Son, with an Obligation to make an annual Allowance out of it to his Father. This Government is endeavouring to find out Means to provide the necessary Funds and Houses for the Relief and Maintenance of the vast Number of poor People in this City; for which Purpose they have commanded the Officers of the respective Parishes to give in Lists of all their Poor, and to distinguish all such as are incapable of getting their Livelihood.

Brussels, Sept. 17. We learn from Mons; that the Fortifications of that Place do not advance so fast as they could wish, the Persons who have undertaken the same having been almost ruined by their Contract. We hear from Maubeuge, that two Regiments of Cavalry, and four of Infantry, had passed by that City coming from Piccardy and the Artois; that they took their Rout by Givet and Lorraine for Alsace, and had with them some Ammunition and a Train of Artillery, which they received from the Arsenal of Doway. By Letters from Paris of the 14th Instant we are informed, that the King had received, in a most gracious Manner, the Deputies of the Clergy who had lately waited on him with an Explanation of their last Remonstrances, which gave them great Reason to believe they should gain their Point; and the rather, as they have got the Chancellor on their Side. By Letters from Paris of the 18th Instant we learn, that on the 13th an extraordinary Council was held there to examine the Remonstrances of the Clergy; and the next Day the Count de St. Florentine went to their Assembly, which lasted from Nine in the Morning till Five in the Afternoon; and as the Debates ran very high, 'tis believed the King's Answer is not so favourable as was at first imagined. The same Letters say, that King Stanislaus was expected there incognito, on Saturday next, and proposed spending three Weeks at the King's Palace during his Majesty's Absence.
