Whitehall, January 16.

THE following Addresses having been transmitted to his Grace the Duke of Dorset, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, have by him been presented to his Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The most humble Address of the Merchants, Traders and Citizens of the City of Dublin.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Merchants, Traders, and Citizens of your faithful City of Dublin, beg Leave, in the most sincere Manner, to blend our Joy with that of our Fellow-Subjects, for your Majesty's safe Return to your British Dominions.

Your Majesty's extensive Care of the Liberties and Tranquility of Europe, in Opposition to the ambitious Views of other Princes, who grasp at Dominion rather than true Glory, and your Benevolence to Mankind, which are the Consolation of your Subjects during your Majesty's Absence, make your Return more glorious and joyful to your faithful People, who must love and admire a Prince whom the World admires; a Prince, who, far from borrowing Lustre, daily gives it to his Crown, and lives but for his People and Mankind.

From such unwearied Application to the publick Service, we are encouraged to hope your Majesty will one Day take into your gracious Consideration the Case of this great Metropolis, and the Administration thereof; that, when After-Ages shall admire the Annals of this Reign, they may conclude no Action was too great for your Majesty's Magnanimity to undertake, too tedious for your patient Vigilance to accomplish, nor any Grievance of your Subjects too minute for your Enquiry and Redress.

We beg Leave to conclude this our humble Address with Assurances of our Loyalty and unshaken Fidelity to your Royal Person and your illustrious House, of our steady Attachment to the present happy Establishment, and with sincere Prayers for your private Happiness, for the Prosperity of your Kingdoms, and the future Glory of your Reign.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Commonalty of the City of Corke.

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects humbly beg Leave to offer to your Majesty, with joyful Hearts, our most sincere Congratulations on your safe and happy Return to your Majesty's British Dominions.

Your Majesty's constant Paternal Regards to your People, and the many invaluable Blessings, flowing from thence, enjoyed by them during the whole Course of your Majesty's most gracious and auspicious Reign, have filled their Minds with the deepest Sense of most dutiful Gratitude, and inflamed their Hearts with the most ardent Desires for the Safety and Welfare of your Majesty's most sacred Person.

And we most humbly assure your Majesty, that our constant Supplications to the Almighty King of Kings are and shall be to preserve your Majesty in all Prosperity, long and many Years to rule over us and your Kingdoms; and when it shall please Divine Providence to take from us so inestimable a Favour, that we may never want one of your Royal and Illustrious Descendants to govern over us and our latest Posterity.

In Testimony whereof we have caused the Common Seal of the said City of Corke to be hereunto affixed, this Eighth Day of December, One thousand seven hundred and fifty-two.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Bayliffs, Aldermen, Burgesses and Commons of the Town of Youghall in the Kingdom of Ireland.

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and truly loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Bayliffs, Aldermen, Burgesses and Commons of your ancient and loyal Town of Youghall in Court of D'Oyer Hundred assembled, humbly beg Leave to congratulate your Majesty on your safe Return to your British Dominions, and with Joy to express the Satisfaction we derive from the same.
