

most humbly beseech your Majesty to accept our warmest Congratulations upon the many great and important Successes which have attended your Fleets and Armies in every Quarter of the known World.

Such Events will for ever remain an undoubted Proof of your Majesty's great Wisdom, and of your paternal Regard for the Interest and Prosperity of your People: They will be lasting Monuments of the great Abilities of those who have the Honour to assist in your Majesty's Councils, and of their Courage and Conduct who are entrusted with the Execution of your Royal Commands.

If it may be allowed, amidst such national Subjects of Joy, to lament the Loss of one brave General, dying in the Service of his King, and of his Country; Permit us, Royal Sir, not to pass over in Silence the great Merit of those who shared in every Part of that Enterprize, and who so happily completed that glorious Success which justly calls forth the publick Acknowledgments of their fellow Subjects.

May your Majesty never want such Servants, may you long reign over a free, happy, and grateful People, may every succeeding Period of your Majesty's Life be equally glorious with the present, and may the Crown of these Realms descend upon your latest Posterity.

Given under our Common Seal, at the Guildhall of the said Borough, the 16th Day of November, 1759.

The following Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeses of the Borough of Berwick upon Tweed, has been presented to His Majesty by Thomas Watson, Esq; one of their Representatives in Parliament, being introduced by the Lord of His Majesty's Bed-Chamber in Waiting: Which Address His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The humble Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeses of the Borough of Berwick upon Tweed.

May it please your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Burgeses of the Borough of Berwick upon Tweed, in Guild assembled, humbly beg Leave to join the general Voice in congratulating your Majesty on the Success which, by the Blessing of the Almighty, has in so singular a Manner attended your Majesty's Arms, during this memorable Year, in every Part of the Universe, particularly in the signal Victory gained on the Plains of Minden; the Reduction of the Enemies Forts, so long an Annoyance to the British Colonies; and in the most arduous and glorious Conquest of Quebec, the Capital and Source of French Power in North America; Conquests which will for ever distinguish this Year of your Majesty's Reign, as the most glorious Period in the British History.

Permit us, most gracious Sovereign, amidst this general and well founded Joy, to drop one condoling Tear to the Memory of your Majesty's faithful Subject and accomplished General the heroic Wolfe, who had the uncommon and almost peculiar Fate, to Die and Conquer; an Exit, which however afflicting to your Majesty, and his fellow Subjects, is surely most glorious to himself, and such as the Hero would always chuse to make.

While the Enemy are thus stript of their Colonies, dispirited by their Losses, and deprived of their Resources, how vain must be their Hopes from an Invasion of these Kingdoms! should they attempt it, we trust, the wonted Vigour and Wisdom of your Majesty's Councils, the intrepid Conduct of your Troops, and the Unanimity of your Subjects, will convince the World, that these Attempts are but the last feeble Efforts of expiring Power, and hasten the grand Object of all your Majesty's Councils and Operations, the Conclusion of this just and necessary

War, by the Restoration of a glorious, safe, and lasting Peace.

Given under our Common Seal, the Sixteenth Day of November, One thousand seven hundred and fifty nine.

The two following Addresses have been presented to His Majesty: Which Addresses His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the King's most Excellent Majesty,

The most humble Address of the Magistrates and City Council of Glasgow, in Common Council assembled.

Most gracious Sovereign,

WE the Magistrates and Common Council of the City of Glasgow, beg Leave to approach your Majesty's sacred Person with our most humble and sincere Congratulations on the glorious and unparalleled Success of your Majesty's Arms in every Quarter of the terraqueous Globe, attended with such a Series of Victories and Conquest as cannot be equalled in the Reign of the most prosperous of your Majesty's Royal Predecessors, and will hardly be credited by Posterity.

Your Majesty's Judgment and Prudence in planning, Resolution and Steadiness in causing execute the important Events of this Year, will render your Majesty's auspicious Reign, the most memorable Era in the British Annals. Permit us, at same Time, to acknowledge most humbly your Majesty's paternal Care of the Rights, Liberties, and Possessions of your Subjects, and your wise and happy Conduct in supporting and defending the Protestant Interest, and in maintaining and preserving the Balance of Power in Europe, against the Devices and Attempts of a restless and perfidious neighbouring Kingdom, which for Ages has by its Ambition and Policy disturbed the Quiet and Repose of Mankind.

May Heaven long continue your Majesty's invaluable Life; may this bloody, though necessary War, terminate in a solid, lasting, and honourable Peace, whereby the Protestant Religion may be secured, the Freedom, Independency, and Tranquillity of Europe established, and the Commerce, Liberty and Felicity of your Majesty's Subjects may be fixed and settled on a sure and immoveable Basis to the latest Ages.

Signed in Presence and by Appointment, Glasgow, Nov. 12, 1759. John Mardock, Provost.

May it please your Majesty,

WE the Ministers and Elders of the provincial Synod of Lothian and Tweedale, assembled at Edinburgh, beg Leave to congratulate your Majesty on that rapid and uninterrupted Success, with which the Almighty has been graciously pleased to bless the Arms of Great Britain.

In every Quarter of the World, your Majesty's Fleets and Armies have been victorious; and the Fields of Minden and Quebec have broke the Power and humbled the Pride of France.

We observe, with the most sincere Pleasure, that the great Events of this Year have not been owing to a superior and overbearing Force; but, under God, to that Spirit of Enterprize which animates your Majesty's Counsels, and to the Skill, Vigour and Courage with which the Plans of Enterprize have been executed.

Permit us, most gracious Sovereign, here to mix Condolance with our Congratulation, and to lament the Loss which both Prince and People suffered, by the Fall of that illustrious Leader of your Armies, who expired in the Arms of Victory; and, dying for his Country, possessed, in his last Moments, every Circumstance of Desert and Glory that can adorn the Fate of mortal Man.

We think ourselves called upon by the present Occasion, to congratulate your Majesty on the happy domestick Consequences of a late Measure of Government, the employing the Inhabitants of the North
